ATLANTA'S NEEDS

Provision for Alabama Viaduct, and Grady, Fire and Police Department Improvements Urged.

FINANCE CHAIRMAN
IN FAVOR OF PLAN

Council To Be Asked Monday To Authorize Committee To Make Schedule of Civic Demands.

A new bond issue for Atlanta to include $1,000,000 for Grady hospital; $1,000,000 for construction of the Alabama street viaduct from Forsyth street across the Spring street viaduct to Elliott street; $500,000 for erection of a new fire headquarters and another $500,000 for a new police station will be proposed to city council at its semi-monthly meeting Monday, it was announced Wednesday by Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward.

Mr. McCutcheon will ask council to instruct the finance committee to draft a schedule of improvements for the city and to allocate sums for various projects which the committee deems necessary immediately, with a provision that the list as enumerated be included.

Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward, chairman of the finance committee, Wednesday night expressed hearty approval of the measure, declaring he would assist in any possible relief from congestion and insalubrious conditions existing in the police station; in provision for a viaduct to offer ingress and egress to one of the city's most neglected areas; in allocation to Grady hospital, which is in need of a new fire headquarters to replace the dilapidated structure in which the department is now housed. "Every one of the items which have been suggested are of prime importance to the future growth and proper development of the city," Mr. McCutcheon said. "We must make the improvements and delay is costing the city many thousands of dollars annually in addition to the inconvenience I do not mean to restrict the council to these items only, but I certainly believe they should be included in any bond proposal."

Struck by Passenger Train
Young Bride Is Near Death

Mrs. J. A. Cooley Loses
Both Legs in Accident at Crossing—Taken to Atlanta Hospital.

Mrs. J. A. Cooley, 20, of 937 Boulevard S. E., a bride of one month and daughter of J. H. (Uncle Jimmy) Doyal, veteran detective of the Atlanta force, was probably fatally injured about 5 o'clock Wednesday night when struck by an outboard passenger train at the railroad crossing on Lee street and Sylvan road.

Both legs of the young woman were severed at the knees, and at the Atlanta hospital, where the victim was rushed by a witness of the tragedy, practically no hope was held out for her recovery.

Mrs. Cooley, who is employed as a comptometer operator at the office of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. on Sylvan road, had left her work for the day and was returning to her home at the time.

She had waited at the crossing for a freight train to pass and was unaware of the second train that was moving at rapid speed on the track parallel and right behind that on which the freight train had passed. Mrs. Cooley started to cross the track. She was cut down by the passenger train, the wheels severing her legs.

The tragedy was witnessed by Miss Rosa Key, of 508 Central avenue, a co-worker of the victim at the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. office, and Winston C. Perdue, of 1091 Longley avenue, who was waiting in his automobile at the crossing for the train to pass. Mr. Perdue picked up the mangled body of the young bride and brought her to the Atlanta hospital, where attaches worked at the time she was taken to the hospital.

It is believed to be a vain attempt to save the girl's life.

Carey Hunter, negro, driver of a local coal truck, was a witness to the tragedy.

Postmaster General Meets Today With Georgians Who Oppose Change in G. O. P. Committee.

World Sees Victory
For Mann Committee

The New York World will say this morning in a special story under a Washington date line: "Colonel Horace A. Mann, first disowned by the republican national committee, then designated Hoover southern campaign manager, then toppled from a self-assured throne of southern patronage dictator into temporary oblivion, has made a patriotic comeback" at the expense of Postmaster General Walter Brown, it is generally believed here.

"The impending coup probably will be completed Thursday after infuriated Georgia republican leaders, effecting their own reorganization, at the president's request, brought to the capital Wednesday their protest over the intrusion of the postmaster-general, Mr. Brown, into the southern campaign."

White House this afternoon set up for patronage under the guiding hand of Colonel Mann that it was not acceptable to him and tried to set up one of his own. The Mann organization, however, is believed acceptable to the president, and that is all that counts.

The postmaster-general has invited the delegation of five Georgians to confer with him Thursday, at which time he is expected to admit defeat.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Washington, May 1.—Through the medium of one of his official secretaries, President Hoover today received a protest from leaders of the Mann republican organization group in Georgia against the action of Postmaster General Walter F. Brown in setting up a new patronage committee in the state to take the place of the one previously appointed under direction of Colonel Horace A. Mann, manager of the southern republican campaign.

Headed by H. G. Hastings, of Atlanta, who managed the regular Hoover-Curtis campaign in Georgia, and Barry W. Night, of Rome, leader of the independent democratic forces supporting the republican ticket in the state, the Mann delegation called at the White House to demand an extended conference with former Representative Walter H. Newton, political secretary to the president. Others in the group included Major R. J. Guinn, of Atlanta; Charles Adamson, of Cedar town, and Arthur Lucas, of Atlanta. All arrived in Washington Tuesday for the purpose of demanding a showdown in the fight over which of the two committees is to be recognized.

Some adjustment of the controversy may come Thursday, when matters are expected to be brought to a head as a result of two important conferences. Postmaster General Brown has invited the delegation to confer with him at the postoffice department. Leaders of the group have expressed a willingness to hear what the postmaster general has to say, and will meet with him for a frank discussion of the case.

About the same time Howard E. Coffin, of Sapelo Island, Ga., who has taken an active interest in the present patronage situation, is scheduled to go to the White House for a conference.

Subject for Today's Session—65 More Prizes To Be Given.

Braving skies that threatened further downpours of rain, another audience of Atlanta women that packed the Erlanger theater to the doors attended the second session of The Constitution's great cooking and home-making school Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Jessie M. DeBoth, nationally famous home economist and food authority, delivered an interesting and instructive lecture on meal-planning and preparation, illustrating her talk with actual stage demonstrations in which she prepared, and cooked a number of menu items and explained how they should be served.

The cooking school will continue for two more days. Sessions will be held this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock and Friday night from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. The subject of the lecture and demonstration this afternoon will be preparation and cooking of meats.

Mrs. Kennedy Wins Range.
A total of 35 prizes were awarded winners attending the Wednesday afternoon cooking school. The main prize—a Crawford-Graybar electric range—was won by Mrs. William C. Kennedy, of 864 Parkway drive, Apartment 12. A pair of Health-O-Meter scales were won by Miss D. Dougherty, 1253 West Peachtree street. Mrs. Edward Fergert, 672 Kenesaw avenue, N. E., won a card table given by the Myers-Miller Furniture Company, and Mrs. K. T. McKinstry, 3 Park Lane, won a Weverer alarm clock.

GILBERT SCORES
CRIME CONDITIONSSupreme Court Justice
Lists Efforts Needed To Remedy Situation
Throughout Country.

Loss of respect for governmental and parental authority, and of reverence for the home fireside, Wednesday night were assigned by Justice S. Price Gilbert, of the state supreme court, in an address at the Druid Hills Baptist church, as the general cause of the unprecedented crime conditions facing America today.

At the conclusion of the remarks by Justice Gilbert, who will preside Friday at the governor's mass meeting on crime conditions, a resolution was adopted by the church congregation calling for a crusade against the rebuilding of the home and the rekindling of the sacred fire on the family altar.

Laws Attacked.
The criminal code of Georgia has not been revised for almost 100 years," Justice Gilbert said. Some punishments specified in the penal code are shocking, he added, pointing out that a man who stole $1,000,000 and admitted it could only be given seven years as a limit, and that a negro who broke into a henhouse and stole a chicken could be given a maximum of 20 years for burglary.

"Organized private crime is the biggest corporation in America today, handling approximately $16,000,000,000 a year, or more than enough to pay off Europe's war debt," Justice Gilbert said, giving the New York crime commission as his authority for the figure. Justice Gilbert showed how fraudulent stock schemes, blackmails, forgeries, robberies, bank-ruptcies, frauds, grafts and kindred things annually cost the American people a tax 50 per cent larger than the net profits of all legitimate corporations in the country.

Points stressed in summing up the situation of crime were: 1. Study of all the workable methods of crime prevention—removal of causes and opportunity in crime. 2. Apprehension of criminals, especially through establishment of a central bureau of identification at the capital of each state, for the identification of ex-convicts and crooks from fingerprints and other methods. Three: Establishment of practical application of constitutional doctrine of speedy trials, to discourage delays and consequent disrespect for law. Four: Co-operation with such agencies as the Salvation Army for the

MISS ADELINE WINSTON.

Miss Adeline Winston, formerly of Atlanta, and Miss Catherine Norcross, the attractive daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul Norcross, will be presented at court at Buckingham palace May 10, according to dispatches received here from London Wednesday night.

Miss Winston is the beautiful young daughter of Colonel and Mrs. W. R. Sample and at present resides at Governor's Island, New York, where Colonel Sample is stationed. She and Miss Norcross graduated from Washington seminary in 1927 and are exceedingly prominent here socially.

He was in the act of making the principal address of the day when the boat capsized and he was drowned. Mrs. Norcross, who died some years previously, was formerly Miss Mattie Holt, of Graham, N. C.

Miss Winston and Miss Norcross, who are lifelong friends, went to Europe last October and are expected to return to this country sometime in June.

Four courts will be held by Queen Mary. The dates of the third and fourth courts have not yet been fixed.

The following will be presented May 10: Mrs. George Barrett, Washington; Miss Mollie Cullum, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Paul Grening, San Francisco; Mrs. George Lawrence, New York City; Miss Margaret McKittick, St. Louis; Miss Catherine Norcross, Atlanta; Miss Margaret Tyner, Highland Park, Ill.; Miss Adeline Winston, Atlanta.

MISS BANKHEAD'S
ENGAGEMENT WITH
COUNT IS BROKEN

London, May 1.—(United News.)—Tallulah Bankhead, noted American actress, has broken her engagement to Count Anthony de Boudari, she announced tonight.

An agreement to disagree was reached by mutual consent, Miss Bankhead said.

She added that she and the count were still devoted to each other but "he has so much work to do and I have mine to do."

The engagement was announced early last November and the actress said she intended to continue her stage work after the marriage. She has appeared in London and made several trips to the continent during the last few years.

Count de Boudari, a naturalized British citizen, is a member of a distinguished Italian family. He previously had been divorced from the former Josephine Fish, Chicago society woman.

The count has made a considerable reputation as a business man since his residence in England.

Seventy-Eight Seriously Injured in Street Fighting in Germany; Spain Is Reported Quiet.

More than 3,200 arrests in Paris. Communism parading the soviet armed forces in Moscow.

Above concisely are the outstanding events marking the celebration of May Day, 1929. Offsetting them, however, came reports from Brussels of quiet parades, more sparsely attended than any in ten years, from rural France depicting outdoor oratory but no violence and from south-eastern Europe, South America and Central America recording exceptional quiet.

REDS BARRICADES
BERLIN STREETS.

Berlin, May 1.—(AP)—Communists in an attempt to "conquer the streets" for May Day, caused an ugly riot tonight in the working class quarter in northern Berlin. They erected barricades, using street repair material, and held off police with rifle and pistol fire until armored cars forced the obstructions and enabled the authorities to clear out the surrounding houses.

At midnight the casualties for the day had mounted to 8 dead and 78 seriously injured. Hundreds of others suffered bruises from missiles or policemen's clubs.

The Pankestrasse and Posenerstrasse were under repair, and quantity of paving material, including blocks, was lying about. The communists erected barricades from this material and from behind them received the police with pistol and rifle volleys.

Shots also were fired from windows of nearby houses and when the armored cars arrived their searchlights were turned upon those vantage points and the rioters were quickly driven from them by well directed police fire. The houses were invaded after the police had stormed and carried the barricades and many of the sharpshooters were found and arrested.

At 11 o'clock the police said they had the situation well in hand and that rioting had ceased. It was reported that the situation was quiet.

INJUNCTION ASKS STRIKERS FREEDOM TO HOLD PARADE

Charlotte, N. C., May 1.—(AP)—Judge H. Hoyle Sink today signed an order in superior court requiring Sheriff Eli Linberger, of Gaston county; Mayor W. T. Rankin, and Chief of Police O. P. Adersholt, of Gastonia, to appear before Judge A. M. Stack in Gaston superior court Monday to show cause why they should not be permanently enjoined from interfering with parades of L. A. mill strikers in Gastonia.

Judge Sink signed the order at the request of Tom P. Jimison, of Charlotte, attorney for the strikers.

Habes corpus proceedings brought before Judge Sink for the release of Walter Law and Everett Hazleton, strikers who were jailed on charges of violating Gastonia's anti-parading ordinance, were withdrawn. Judge Sink was informed the two strikers had been released and the cases against them not pressed in Gastonia city court.

State Library Association Plans Bill To Give Counties Funds for Rural Activities

Georgia Body Adjourns
Session at Rome—Aid
Pledged in Increasing
Range of Organization.

Resolutions pledging support of the Georgia Library Association to the movement to secure county library service in the rural districts of the state and calling for introduction of a bill at the legislature session here this year that will give counties in the state the privilege of spending funds in library work featured the biennial session of the association.

Valdosta, first vice president; Miss Nellie Reese, Athens, second vice president, and Miss Katherine Carnes, of Wesleyan college in Macon, secretary and treasurer.

Aids Movement.

The resolution calling for prompt action by the state legislature in the matter of county libraries, is seen as adding impetus to the movement to place Georgia's library facilities on a par with that of other states in the country, of which all but five, including Florida and Georgia in the south, have county library systems functioning.

Miss Julia W. Merrill, executive assistant of the American Library Association's committee on library extension, who was in Atlanta Wednesday afternoon following attendance at the state convention in Rome as the official representative of the American Library Association, outlined the county library system, which Georgia is expected to adopt this year as a result of action taken by the state association and previous efforts made by educational leaders of the state.

Branch Libraries.

The county system includes branch libraries in all the major districts as county seats, library buildings in minor rural districts and book automobiles or libraries on wheels for closer public contact in the rural districts. Continual rotation of books in the branch and station libraries would insure maximum distribution of the books available, according to the county system.

The newest development in the county system and one which has been greatly increased in the system throughout the nation has been the offer of financial aid to county libraries made by the recently enlarged Julius Rosenwald fund, Miss Merrill explained.

The Rosenwald fund will be used to give substantial aid to counties by propitiating definite sums for library

If Alertox Fails in High Blood Pressure —Call A Doctor

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by overeating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are both underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, through a process of elimination, thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities and tends to reduce pressure in the veins to arteries by carrying out through the intestinal tract excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox removes, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. Alertox also alkalizes the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Ask any one who has tried it. Your doctor has Alertox; if not, send direct upon receipt of price, 60c and $1.00. Alertox, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.

work. In a few weeks the first disbursements will be made by the fund in this section. Miss Merrill explained. Much of this money will go to the states surrounding Georgia, but none will be expended here until a county library system is adopted. Wherever the county library system has been adopted it has proved successful and grown rapidly, Miss Merrill asserted.

Lightning Bolt Enters Window, Strikes Woman

As lightning flashed, thunder pealed and the rain poured down in Atlanta's severest storm of the spring early Wednesday a woman and a child were reported injured.

Mrs. W. R. Camp and her mother, Mrs. A. M. Young, were sitting in their home at 1707 Boulevard drive, N. E., when Mrs. Camp was struck by what Mrs. Young called a bolt of lightning which entered the bungalow through a dining room window and plunged into the kitchen where Mrs. Camp was hit. Mrs. Camp was severely burned but after being given medical attention was none the worse for her experience.

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Strawberry, the five months' old baby of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Garner, who were visiting the Strawberrys was injured when the house was struck by lightning. The child, which was being held by its mother, was burned, but Mrs. Garner escaped uninjured. Plastering was shaken loose in the house, which was damaged slightly on the exterior.

A house at 1811 Boulevard drive was struck by lightning and damaged but none of its occupants were injured.

Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Flags Flying as in Former Days, Open for Last Time

Famous Hostelry To Be Torn Down To Make Way for Business Buildings.

New York, May 1.—(AP)—Festively, with all flags flying as if, as in former days, in welcome to a president or prince the Waldorf-Astoria hotel passed out of existence tonight, victim of the mighty march of business up Fifth Avenue.

With the removal of the famous hostelry to make room for an office skyscraper, the whole character of 34th street and Fifth Avenue, once the most fashionable neighborhood in the new world, will have completely changed. Even now, with those familiar old red walls still standing, ghosts of those dandies of "the age of innocence" and "the mauve decade" would have a hard time finding their way about.

More than 1,000 guests tonight rode up in taxis and limousines to her brilliantly lighted carriage entrance to eat the last dinner ever to be served at the Waldorf. There was one big stag dinner in the grand ballroom, attended by members of more than 40 organizations that for years have had their annual dinners at the hotel. In the beautiful old dining room overlooking Fifth Avenue, in the grill, and in the other smaller cafes a $10 table d'hôte, prepared under the direction of Oscar, was served to individual diners.

After the dinners there was dancing and, around midnight, the last of Oscar's famous suppers. Two hundred guests had reservations to spend the night there, but they'll have to get out early tomorrow morning to make way for the auctioneer, and they'll have to go out for breakfast.

Senator Royal S. Copeland and other notables spoke at the big stag dinner, and their speeches were broadcast. The dinner was the inspiration of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, who was unable to be present, as he is recovering from an operation.

The hotel will be torn down in about a month. Auctioning off of the furniture started today—with a dresser which brought $77 after the auctioneer suggested that "perhaps before this dresser Anna Held undressed for her famous milk bath."

A little more than a week ago, the Waldorf-Astoria entertained her last great personage. On April 22 President Hoover spoke there at the Associated Press luncheon.

But even then, upstairs, auctioneer's tags were being attached to beds and chairs and dressers.

17-STORY STORAGE PLANT IS RUMORED ON SITE OF DEPOT

Plans for a major development reported to be a 17-story cold storage and freight warehouse, on the site of the old Union depot, are being made by McDonald & Co., engineers and architects. It was learned Wednesday by Mayor L. N. Ragsdale from J. B. Hill, president of the N. C. & St. L. railroad. Definite plans will not be announced until complete details have been completed, it was stated.

That announcement follows closely on others that the railroad plans a new passenger station on Forsyth street, details of which were made public several days ago.

A hearing to determine if the proposal regarding the new station will become an actuality is scheduled for May 15 before the state public service commission.

RED CROSS DIRECTOR CAMP FIRE GIRLS' HEAD URGES NEED FOR FUNDS HERE TO PLAN OUTING

Success of Relief Work Depends Upon Raising $150,000.

Dublin, Ga., May 1.—(Special).—Completing a survey of Georgia's tornado devastation, M. K. Reckord, Red Cross relief director, announced tonight that the situation of storm sufferers is more serious than generally realized outside of the affected territory. Path of the tornado is marked by complete wreckage.

Upon returning to headquarters here he detailed plans for completing emergency relief to be followed by systematic, individual help for disaster sufferers in both Georgia and Carolina storm zones. He emphasized that the success of these plans depends upon public response for funds of which $150,000 to $200,000 are urgently needed, Reckord declared.

He made public advices from Washington headquarters which stated that no government funds are available at present for farmers and that even pending legislation provides only for fertilizer seed and feed aid when covered by first mortgages on this year's crops. Reckord emphasized that help from funds contributed to Red Cross for relief will be given and not loaned but that where promise cannot otherwise obtain government aid because of mortgage requirements, the Red Cross will help.

At Cochran, Ga., the local advisory committee was named to co-operate with Red Cross workers and it was stated that despite losses in the community the people there had raised nearly $2,000 dollars which will be used by the Red Cross for relief work.

SHE'S ABLE NOW TO WALK DOWN TOWN, SHE SAYS

Was Helpless From Rheumatism and Bedridden for Months—Sargon
Brings Health.

"For fifteen years I suffered agonies with rheumatism. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for medicines for me, but they only gave slight temporary relief. Then I started Sargon.

MRS. MARY SCHULLER.

and I never would have believed that any medicine on earth could have done as much for me.

"I was told that I had inflammatory rheumatism in both my arms and legs, and I couldn't walk across the room without help. For two years I was almost helpless. My nerves were unstrung, and sound sleep was impossible. My appetite left me, and I gradually became more weak and run down, and last November I was forced to go to bed and stay there for months.

"With my first bottle of Sargon I felt better than I had in years, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was able to get out of bed and commence to walk around the house. I kept right on until I took eight bottles, and how wonderful it all seems, with every ache and pain gone! My appetite has returned, and my husband laughingly tells me I will eat him out of house and home. I enjoy delightful, restful sleep, I walk down town, or anywhere else I want to go, and get around with energy and strength I have not felt before in years. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude, and I hope my statement will help others who have suffered as I did find relief with this wonderful treatment.

The above statement was recently made by Mrs. Mary Schuller, highly esteemed resident of 1928 Oliver Ave., Minneapolis.

Merit, and merit alone, can explain the instant and phenomenal demand for Sargon. Thousands of Atlanta people are now taking it with the most gratifying results.

Sargon is not only a powerful reconstructive tonic designed to impart tone and strength to the entire system, but it is a constitutional treatment as well, and exerts a tremendous influence upon the processes of digestion and elimination.

A special representative of the Sargon Laboratories is personally meeting hundreds of people daily at Jacobs' Main Store, 6 and 8 Marietta St., where he is explaining the therapeutic action of this revolutionary new medicine. He will give you facts, not empty promises. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

NEW GERMAN CONSUL ASSUMES DUTIES HERE

Dr. Lorenz Well-Known in Diplomatic World—Versed in South's Problems.

Dr. M. Lorenz, formerly German consul for the western half of Canada with headquarters at Winnipeg, Wednesday took over duties at the German consulate in Atlanta. Dr. Lorenz succeeds Dr. R. Jaeger who was transferred some time ago to New Orleans, and Acting Consul Gysling, who shortly will return to New York.

DR. M. LORENZ.

Dr. Lorenz has been in consular service in North America for the past three years. During this period his duties have kept him in Canada most of the time, where for the first half year spent on this side of the Atlantic he was acting consul general at Montreal for all Canada, and the rest of the time in charge of the consulate at Winnipeg.

As head of the Atlanta consulate, Dr. Lorenz will have charge of consular services in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Florida. While this section of the continent is virtually new to him, he is closely familiar with fundamental conditions here, particularly those in the cotton belt, it was said. Dr. Lorenz, a native of East Prussia, the most agricultural portion of Germany, has an unusually wide agricultural background. During his educational training he made a special study of cotton conditions and problems the world over and particularly in the cotton belt here, where Germany is one of the principal purchasers.

Dr. Lorenz passed through Atlanta for the first time about two months ago on a vacation to Cuba. "I knew then that my consularship here would be a very pleasant one," the new consul said Wednesday. "I gained a favorable impression of Atlanta from the start, which corroborated the reputation for hospitality that I had heard given the south while residing in the north. Rapid commercial growth of Atlanta, which I observed in my studies of the cotton belt, excited my interest even when I was unable to observe it at first hand as I now will have the opportunity.

The new consul is a doctor of law and political economy and studied at the Universities of Lusanne, Berlin, Jena and Konigsberg. In an extensive diplomatic career, Dr. Lorenz was stationed for several years at the German embassy in Rome serving as counselor, immediately under Count Von Pittwits, who is now German ambassador to the United States.

When the Emory University Glee Club concert is given here May 8 there will be at least one individual in the audience who traveled 3,000 miles to hear the boys sing. Ernest S. The English visitor is a world traveler. He promised a visit to the Emory singers last summer and since arriving here he has said that he is here "until the boys put me out."

MYERS LAYS PLANS TO PUSH NEW CIGAR

Plans for enlargement of the distribution in this territory of the new Cortez cigar, which has made its appearance on the market in two tent models, were laid here recently by Percy H. Myers, sales manager of the Lee Roy Myers Company, of Savannah and Key West, maker of this nationally famous brand.

Mr. Myers spent several days here conferring with J. N. Hirsch, distributor of his product, and the James A. Greene Advertising Agency, which is directing an intensive advertising campaign designed to popularize the new ten-cent Cortez. The Cortez line is one of the oldest on the market, having for 60 years enjoyed wide distribution and popularity. The addition to the line is designed to meet the modern public taste, being a blend of fine and mild tobaccos. It now has attained practically complete distribution here.

"The response of the public to this new Cortez cigar has been far more ready and widespread than we had ever hoped for," Mr. Myers said while here. "The cigar has taken an immediate grip on popular favor, and every indication is that it will grow in popularity as it becomes more generally known among smokers of good cigars."

Edgar Watkins, well-known local attorney, will be the principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the City Club at 12:30 o'clock today in the pine room of the Amway hotel. Mr. Watkins will discuss "The Evolution of the Regulation of Railways."

LITHUANIAN MALCONTENT'S STAGE DEMONSTRATION.
Kotro, Lithuania, May 1.—(AP)—Several communists were killed and many wounded today by police who fired on demonstrators who had defied an order forbidding May Day assemblages.

ALL IS QUIET IN SPANISH REPORT.

London, May 1.—(AP)—A telephone message from Barcelona to the Associated Press tonight said that nothing abnormal occurred in the city today. Rumors of disturbances in connection with a revolutionary plot were declared to be unfounded.

The message stated that there had been some slight interruptions to railway and telephonic communication but that it had been quickly repaired.

Reports from the Franco-Spanish frontier stated that two bombs had been exploded on a bridge connecting Barcelona with Madrid. These reports, however, indicated that the explosions were an isolated instance and that the city as a whole was peaceful.

3,500 ARRESTED IN PARIS.

Paris, May 1.—(AP)—May Day passed off calmly in France as tens of thousands of workers took the day off while police and soldiers saw to it that everyone who wanted to work could do so without molestation.

In the provinces there was a great deal of oratory, many meetings and parades of both socialist and communist organizations but no violence.

Paris and its suburbs, where parades and manifestations had been forbidden, also were calm.

However, there were almost 3,500 arrests in the metropolitan district, most of them simply as a preventive measure.

VIENNA HAS QUIET MAY DAY FESTIVAL.

Vienna, May 1.—(AP)—With the exception of a few sporadic clashes in the provinces between radical and fascist elements, May Day was without serious trouble in Austria.

Reports to the Associated Press from Greece, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia showed that all attempts at mass manifestations, either by socialists or communists, were rigidly forbidden by police and that the orders were enforced.

Hungary's cities resembled armed camps and no agitator dared to utter a word in them today. The national government of Hungary has been dead on communism since the overthrow of the red terror under Bela Kun.

In Vienna, under control of the socialist municipal government, nearly a million workers with their wives and children, forming a continuous civilian cavalcade, marched for eight hours.

At Kapfenberg a fight broke out between fascists and socialists when one of the latter, a member of the government, attempted to address a workingmen's meeting. One socialist was seriously wounded and eight fascists were badly beaten.

A similar collision occurred at Bruck.

POLICE PERMIT NEW YORK MEETING.

New York, May 1.—(AP)—New York's celebration of May Day entered in a parade and later a mass meeting that packed Madison Square Garden. The entire celebration, carried on in a drizzling rain, was quiet and orderly.

Ten thousand marchers, the majority wearing some bit of red, marched in the parade through streets about Union Square.

At Madison Square Garden the doors were closed shortly after 2:30, when every seat and every bit of standing room in the vast auditorium had been filled. In the center of the audience sat 1,200 children, who had marched in a body.

Marching at the head in the parade were five strikers from the Gastonia, N. C., textile mills, among them a woman, and in the procession were large delegations of striking cafeteria, textile, and needle trade workers.

Cole Back Home After Man Hunt In Europe Fails

Postoffice Inspector J. W. Cole returned to Atlanta Wednesday afternoon from a two-month trip abroad on a manhunt that took him into practically every European capital in an effort to locate Walter Ringer, believed to have been responsible for the sensational robbery of registered mail sacks of the Levithan some months ago which netted more than $100,000 worth of bonds.

Mr. Cole, who was with Inspector Smith, of New York, on his trip, was called in by the chief inspector after an attempt had been made to dispose of some of the stolen bonds in Vienna. A man giving his name as C. M. Rymar, tried to sell $10,000 worth of bonds to a Vienna bank, was apprehended and gave information which led to arrest of Ringer in Antwerp, Cole explaining.

Belgian police officials immediately got in touch with the American authorities but by the time they had checked up on their information Ringer had been released, it being impossible to hold him more than 24 hours under Belgian laws. He did, however, surrender an additional $40,000 worth of bonds.

Since this time he has not been seen and Mr. Cole's trip was in an effort to locate him. He interviewed police officials in a large portion of the European countries and distributed thousands of circulars giving a complete description.

Mr. Cole's return visit was made on the first "wet voyage" of the Levithan.

HOME PRESERVED BEANS CAUSE 4 POISON DEATHS

Lander, Wyo., May 1.—(AP)—The fourth fatality in the family of Rudolph Vasco, miner, of Hudson, near here, occurred early today with the death of Mary Violet, 6, as a result of botulism poisoning from home preserved beans eaten at the family's Sunday dinner.

Weather conditions and the lack of lighted airways prevented air transportation of serum to the hospital where the family was brought after being stricken.

Fannie Francis Vasco, 7, died late yesterday from the poisoning. On Monday Mrs. Vasco, and Thomas, 7, died. Rudolph Vasco, the father, was away from home Sunday and was not affected by the poison, but Anna Vasco, his niece, who spent Sunday at the Vasco home, was made slightly ill.

ATLANTA URGED TO AID TORNADO VICTIMS IN STATE

Efforts to raise funds for the relief of the people in the tornado district will be continued here, it was stated Wednesday, and while no active campaign is to be conducted, it is hoped that Atlanta firms and individuals will contribute generously to this cause.

A check for $1,000 was received from the Coca-Cola Company Wednesday, bringing total contributions to date to about $200. It is requested that all checks be made payable to the Red Cross and sent to the Atlanta local chapter at 280 Peachtree street.

The National Red Cross has contributed $25,000 for the relief fund, but is desirous of raising an additional $250,000. It is requested that help out in this work, according to word received here by William H. Glenn, Atlanta businessman, who is directing the local campaign, from James L. Fieser, acting chairman of the national body.

GILBERT SCORES
CRIME CONDITIONS

reclamation and reform of ex-convicts. Fivey Aid that may be rendered by laymen, in the church and out, by bringing to the general public a realization of the terrible menace now existing in the country, with its fixed theater of criminal activity, Justice Gilbert said. He pointed out that 30 years ago the sheriffs and police knew most of the crooks and were able to keep their eyes on them.

He said that he does not advocate doing away with movies or automobiles, but suggests some system of improvement be adopted. In the case of automobiles, a system of drivers' licenses, with photos of the drivers attached, might afford detection of criminals, and should be worked out, Justice Gilbert declared.

Justice Gilbert told the story of how Hercules cleansed the Augean stables by diverting the Alpheus river through the stables, and declared that public opinion must perform a task similar to this in respect to crime in America. "The pure stream of public opinion, founded on law observance, must be turned against the rotten stables of crime; and it is not to be doubted that public opinion can perform the task as far as it is possible to perform it. One way is to bring facts clearly and without exaggeration before the people. Graft in office and crime throughout the country challenge organized government," he said.

The justice told of wrong-doing and convictions of crime, beginning with cabinet officers in Washington, with impeachment trials in the case of numbers of governors and judges and municipal officers, and directed special attention to exposures of graft in New York city, Chicago, Cleveland and other large cities, and in the state of Ohio. "Georgia is merely one state in which conditions are perhaps better than in some states and worse than in others," he said.

The resolution introduced by Walter G. Cooper, foreman of a recent county grand jury, drew attention to President Hoover's address on crime and disrespect for law, and gave the breakdown of home influence, abandonment of the family altar and the sad neglect of children by parents so engrossed in business or social affairs that they turn their little ones over to the public at a tender age when they need a mother's care, as the reason for the demoralization of young life. The resolution pointed out that official reports show an appalling increase in crime by boys and girls.

Resolution Offered.
The resolution said: "Frankly facing this great crisis in the life of our country, our state and our city, we call upon ministers, editors, teachers, those in authority and good men and women everywhere to lift up their voices and set their faces against crime and disrespect for law; and we most earnestly ask them to unite in a determined and continued crusade for the rebuilding of the home, the rekindling of the sacred fire on the family altar and the strengthening of those benign influences, radiating from the home, without which no government is secure and no family is safe."

"We commend and thank Governor Hardman for calling a convention under the chairmanship of Judge Price Gilbert of the supreme court to consider this grave problem and we bespeak for them and the convention the whole-hearted support of the people of Georgia."

Judge Thomas Presides.
The meeting was opened by Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court. The Rev. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the church, took a prominent part in the program. Among court officers present in addition to Justice Gilbert, were: Judge O. H. B. Bloodworth, of the state court of appeals; Judge James B. Humphreys, E. D. Thomas, G. H. Howard and Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court; Judge Jesse M. Wood, of city criminal court; Police Recorder Murphy M. Holloway and A. W. Callaway; Solicitor-General John A. Boykin; Assistant Solicitor-General John H. Hudson; Solicitor John S. McClelland, of city criminal court. Others present included Paul E. Etheridge, chairman of the Fulton county commission; Aldermen O. B. Williamson and Ben T. Hulet, and Councilman Raleigh Drennon.

Governor Hardman, in a short address on the reasons for calling the mass meeting of Friday, said that the same citizens who ask that the governor issue a reward for the capture and conviction of a criminal frequently appear before the prison commission or the governor and ask for clemency, while no one represents the state at the hearings. The attorneys do not claim the prisoners are innocent, but that they have been punished sufficiently. Governor Hardman said.

Governor Hardman said that the responsibility is the people's and that "justice is a law based on the authority of the Great Jehovah, that justice cannot be met until the punishment is equal to the crime committed." The governor said that no man has a right to violate the law because he does not believe that it is right.

SHOUSE DEMS LEADER IN KANSAS POLITICS

Kansas City, May 1.—(AP)—Jouett Shouse, named to head the permanent headquarters of the democratic party in Washington, D. C., has been prominent in Kansas and national politics for more than a decade.

He maintains a law office here and in Washington and is a resident of Kinsley, Kans. He is 49 years old.

After serving a term as a state senator in Kansas, Mr. Shouse was elected to congress in 1914 and again in 1916, but was defeated for re-election in 1918. He was an assistant secretary of the treasury in the latter part of the Wilson administration.

Born and reared in Kentucky, Mr. Shouse was a newspaper and farm publication editor at Lexington, Ky., until his removal to Kansas in 1911. He has banking, business and farming interests in the latter state.

He took an active part in the arrangements for the republican national convention here last year, giving the local committee the benefit of his experience in laying plans for a national political gathering.

According to Hunter's story to police he had started across the tracks but seeing the train approaching he stopped his machine, so that it would be clear of an inbound street car, but was unable to clear a right-of-way for both the street car and passenger train. He was also unable to go on across the crossing because of the passing freight train and could not reverse his truck because of the street car.

The passenger train was in charge of Engineer H. C. Jackson and Conductor W. A. Ware, both of Columbus, Ga.

Carnes' Illness
May Net Church
$350 Per Month

Because, though in prison, Clinton S. Carnes is unable to work, the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention may realize $350 a month for the period of its defaulting treasurer's illness, it was learned Wednesday.

Carnes, under sentence of from five to seven years in the penitentiary for thefts from the mission board, said to total more than $900,000, is in the prison hospital at Milledgeville in what may be the final stages of tuberculosis. An insurance policy in which the mission board is named beneficiary, provides that should Carnes be physically unfit to work he shall receive a monthly compensation of $350 a month. This insurance was made payable to the mission board when the former treasurer pleaded guilty to embezzlement and agreed to make restitution insofar as was possible. This policy is for $35,000. The mission board also is said to have been made beneficiary of a policy for $75,000 but that other insurance held by Carnes was not transferred to the board because Carnes previously had waived the right to change the beneficiary.

Contrary to previous reports the premiums on neither of the policies in which the mission board is interested are payable at present and there is no possibility of "Carnes" being brought to Atlanta at this time to undergo an examination, it was stated by officials of the Baptist board and authorities at the prison farm Wednesday.

TEACHERS STRESS
POINTS OF HEALTH
IN SCHOOLS HERE

Atlanta had its part in a nationwide observance Wednesday of Child Health Day, when four elements that make for perfect health—diet, exercise, fresh air and adequate sleep—were particularly emphasized by every teacher and official in Atlanta's school system.

May pole dances had been planned in several of the schools but because of the inclement weather, they were postponed until another day, but the main factors that go to make perfect health were stressed.

It was a big day for children of pre-school age, particularly those who are to enter the kindergarten classes next September for physical examinations were being held throughout the day.

Child Health Day is sponsored by the American Public Health Association, of which President Herbert Hoover is the head and also by the National Educational Association and National Parent-Teacher Council.

WHITE FARMER
IN SOUTH AFRICA
GIVEN FLOGGING

Pretoria, South Africa, May 1.—(AP) For the first time in many years a white farmer was today flogged for injuring a native.

Jack Nafte, who tied a native employee head downwards by the leg from a tree and lashed him so severely that he subsequently died, had already been sentenced to seven years at hard labor. But the judge in passing sentence for the assault, which he described as "horrifying in its cruelty," said that the punishment would not be adequate, unless it also included infliction upon Nafte of physical pain.

The cabinet of South Africa decided that it was unable to recommend mercy for Nafte, and the farmer received 10 lashes in the Pretoria jail today.

WARD ENTERS CHURCH DISPUTE AT CAPITAL

Action of Methodist Board
Scored by Catholic Welfare Official.

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—The dispute between Senator Cope land, Democrat, New York, and the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, over what the senator recently described as "improper activity" by the board, was joined today by Patrick J. Ward, director of the bureau of publicity and information of the National Catholic Welfare conference.

Mr. Ward said in a statement that Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist board, in replying to Cope land had declared that the Catholic church has long had a headquarters here from which they have no hesita tion in conferring with senators and other government officials.

"In this statement," Ward contin ued, "the (Dr. Wilson) wishes to draw a parallel between the activities of the Methodist board and those of the National Catholic Welfare con ference."

There is no similarity between these two organizations. The Meth odist board of Temperance and Pub lic Morals is in party politics. It supports or opposes candidates for public office according to their ac ceptability or non-acceptability to the Methodist church. Its purpose is po litical.

"The Catholic church and the Cath olic body in the United States have no political platform. The National Catholic Welfare conference is not organized for any political purpose. It does not align itself with any po litical party in return for party fa vors or support, and it has never sought the defeat of any political can didate because of its stand on any particular piece of legislation."

Senator Cope land, who is a mem ber of the Methodist Episcopal church, in a recent letter to Dr. Wilson said he had been concerned over what he declared he regarded "to be im proper activity, the work at Washing ton" of the Methodist board in "its manifest efforts to dictate and con trol legislation."

The senator said the Methodists "are doing exactly what we have de manded shall not be done by the Catholics."

Had that branch of the Chris tian church erected a building ad joining the capitol there would have been a vehement denunciation from every Methodist pulpit, he added.

Dr. Wilson, in reply to Cope land, said "the Catholic church has long had a headquarters here from which they have no hesita tion in conferring with senators and other government offi cials, and not a Methodist pulpit in the land has made any special protest against that right."

"When Senator Cope land says that everyone would protest," Dr. Wilson added, "he knows that the Catholic church has such a headquarters and he knows that the Methodists do not protest."

"The work of our board is a de nomination work in the training of the young people of our own church, and educational work and agitation work."

General Chang
Denied Admittance
By Jap Officials

Tokyo, May 1.—(AP)—Press dis patches from Bairen, Liaotung (Japa nese territory) said that Marshal Chang Tsung Shun, former Shan tung war lord, appeared off Port Ar thur in a native junk this morning and was prevented from landing by Japanese police. He was in disguise.

The Japanese authorities of the Kwantung leased territory denied the defeated war lord refuge, charging he had abused his former asylum there with his abortive coup in Shantung.

Since Chang Huah-liang has or dered Chang arrested if he enters Manchuria he is now in the position where if he lands anywhere along the Chinese littoral he faces almost cer tain execution. Hence it was thought he would turn to Japan proper, where it was believed the authorities would permit him to reside under surveil lance.

RESERVE REPORTS
NO CHANGED MONEY
MARKET POSITION

New York, May 1.—(AP)—The New York Federal Reserve bank, in its monthly review of credit and business conditions, issued today, states that "there has been no essential change during the month in the position of the money market" from the situation which prevailed at the end of March and resulted in the crisis which sent the call money rate to 20 per cent.

The review points out that the re duction in call loans, which amounts to $177,000,000 since February 6, when the federal reserve issued its first warning on the excessive use of credit for speculation, has been offset by an increase of $284,000,000 in bank loans directly to customers on security collateral. The reduction in brokerage loans since they reached their peak on March 20, however, has been $301,000,000, and since that time bank loans on security collateral have de creased $24,000,000.

"It is clear," states the review, "that the total amount of credit em ployed in carrying securities remains slightly larger than early in Febru ary, but is reduced from the high point of March 20."

Empty Bottle and Heflin DIGNITY OF BODY DISRUPTED BY ARGUMENT Raise Havoc in Senate

Washington, May 1.—(United News).—An empty bottle hurled at Senator Thomas Heflin last March in Brockton, Mass., raised havoc today in the United States senate.

It influenced senators to charge each other with madness and insan ity; it provoked one of them to the extent of using the adjective "damned"; and it stirred such a commotion in the gallery that Vice President Curtis threatened to exclude all spec tators.

In short, senatorial courtesy and dignity were completely disrupted. The offending bottle was thrown at Heflin by an unidentified member of a crowd which jeered at him while leaving the hall where he had completed one of his anti-Catholic addresses, but missed the senator and struck a policeman.

The senate was in recess at the time but as soon as it had been called into special session by Presi dent Hoover, Heflin introduced a resolution expressing regret at the in cident and censuring the unknown bottle thrower. Heflin's speeches for the measure occupied 32 pages of the congressional record, excluding to day's words.

The measure came to a vote today before Heflin had been given an op portunity to make another speech for it and was defeated 98 to 14. Twelve fellow democrats and two republicans stood by the Alabama senator.

Comes To Vote.
Senator Watson, republican leader, allowed the resolution to come to a vote on the condition that Heflin re frain from speaking before the roll was called and attempted to keep the denunciation of Watson, who had left the chamber.

"He is sick as an owl," Heflin told the senate about its majority leader. "You never know where he stands. It can be said his tracks are like the snake's tracks. You never know whether he is going north or coming back."

When Heflin concluded his speech, Senator Jones, of Washington, who ordinarily takes no part in such con troversies, had the last word on the issue.

"I must confess that pressure has been brought to bear on me to vote against this resolution," he said. "I owe this confession to the senator from Alabama. I yielded to this pressure and voted against his resolu tion although, like everyone else in the chamber, I am opposed to mob violence and would have voted for it when first brought in."

"The pressure which changed my vote has been brought by the senator from Alabama himself."

Sensors who voted for Heflin's resolution were: Sackel of Kentucky, and Robinson of Indiana, republicans, and Black of Alabama, Fletcher and Trammell of Florida, George and Har ris of Georgia, McKellar and Tyson of Tennessee, Thomas of Oklahoma, Blaine of South Carolina, and Shep pard of Texas, democrats. Overman of South Carolina was present but did not vote.

JAPS TO EVACUATE
SHANTUNG ARE A
AS ORDER RETURNS

Tokyo, May 1.—(AP)—Japanese mil itary authorities today decided to com plete arrangements for evacuation of the Shantung area in China which Japanese troops have been occupying by May 25. Their action was the re sult of submission of detailed plans for the maintenance of order by the Chinese nationalist government.

As to DeGroot's request for a pub lic hearing before the president acted, it was stated that a hearing had been held under former Attorney-General Sargent.

"You are hereby removed from the office of United States attorney, east ern district of New York, effective immediately."

Hearing Already Held.
As to DeGroot's request for a pub lic hearing before the president acted, it was stated that a hearing had been held under former Attorney-General Sargent.

This is the first case of the sum mary dismissal of a public official since the Hoover administration took office, but White House officials said there were many precedents in pre vious administrations. Perhaps the best known is that of the Oregon post master who was removed from office by President Wilson and who lost his fight on an appeal to the United States supreme court.

Ordinarily dismissal is brought about by the simple expedient of send ing the nomination of the successor of the dismissed officer to the sen ate, but in this particular case a suc cessor had not been selected and the summary order was issued in place of a nomination.

Third To Leave.
DeGroot is the third district at torney to leave office as a result of the nationwide survey of the activ ities of the offices of federal prose cuting attorneys being conducted by Attorney-General Mitchell in accord with the Hoover policy of increased efficiency in the federal service.

Johanna Cook, district attorney for the southern district of Mississippi, and William A. Guber, federal attorney for the southern district of Florida, submitted their resignations at the request of Mr. Mitchell. Cook came to Washington to see President Wil son, but without success.

Asserting also that the "moral qual ities" of his papers—the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, Columbia (S. C.) Record, Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald and Spartanburg (S. C.) Journal—had not been changed and would not be changed by the fiscal relationship, Mr. Lavarre added:

"If Mr. Graustein and his Inter national Paper Company have made it possible for me to settle down in this garden spot of America, to expand my efforts by purchasing other sim ilarly distinguished papers . . . with no other obligation than that we buy our newspaper from his company, I think I owe him a debt of gratitude. I express it here."

As evidence of the service to the citizens of the south rendered by his agreement with the paper company, the Carolina publisher quoted the former owners of two Spartanburg pa pers as declaring the availability of more capital had insured not only more complete papers, but a fearless editorial policy. That these improve ments had met with the approval of the readers, he said, was indicated by the immediate growth of the reorgani zed papers.

"I know very little about power" or power companies," said Mr. Lavarre, "but a power company at its worst would have a hard time beating some of the loudest yelling newspapers I have seen today in coloring the news, twisting the facts, regarding my pur chase of four southern newspapers, to suit their own purposes."

I have before me a verbatim report of the federal trade commission. . . . Nowhere can I find in it any of the statements and innuendoes concocted to suit the whims of a few blatant editors and published this morning."

HOOPER OUSTS DEGROOT AFTER SECOND REFUSAL

New York Attorney Dismissed After Refusal To Get Out of Office.

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Presi dent Hoover today summarily re moved from office William A. De Groot, federal attorney for the eastern New York district, who had re fused requests of two successive at torneys-general that he resign.

The chief executive acted upon a recommendation of Attorney-General Mitchell, who wrote Mr. Hoover that "There seems to be no difference of opinion among judges, members of the bar, or officials or attorneys in the department of justice as to the ex istence of unsatisfactory conditions in Mr. DeGroot's office and as to the necessity for supplanting him by a competent and reliable man who will thoroughly reorganize the office and make immediate and extensive changes in the personnel."

The president's order, addressed to DeGroot, said:

"You are hereby removed from the office of United States attorney, east ern district of New York, effective immediately."

Hearing Already Held.
As to DeGroot's request for a pub lic hearing before the president acted, it was stated that a hearing had been held under former Attorney-General Sargent.

POWER TRUST CONTROL DENIED BY LAVARRE

Publisher of Georgia, South Carolina Says Moral Tone of Papers Same.

New York, May 1.—(AP)—William Lavarre, owner and publisher of four papers in Georgia and South Carolina, mentioned in the federal trade com mission's inquiry into International Paper Company financing of publish ers, denied today that the company had purchased a single share in any of those properties, or that he had acted as agent for the paper company in purchasing the newspapers.

Asserting also that the "moral qual ities" of his papers—the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, Columbia (S. C.) Record, Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald and Spartanburg (S. C.) Journal—had not been changed and would not be changed by the fiscal relationship, Mr. Lavarre added:

LOST RACE HORSE FUND BLAMED FOR SLAYING

Young Friend of George Remus Killed When Bookies Flee With Bets.

Cincinnati, May 1.—(AP)—Race horse betting and gambling in which hand book operators ran off with wagers without paying bets were involved by police tonight in the slaying in the Hotel Gibson here early today of August Bruck, 33, Newport, Ky., friend of George Remus, notorious bootlegger.

Bruck was found dead with four bullet wounds in his body by a hotel detective.

The room was in disorder. Bruck's assailants were not the only ones armed for detectives found a holster strapped around Bruck's shoulders in which was a fully loaded revolver. Two Chicago men, Joseph Plunkett, 30, son of a former Chicago police officer, and Edward D. Hall, 30, registered at the hotel several days ago and occupied the same room where the slaying took place, were objects of a police search tonight. Both were charged with murder in warrants signed by Mrs. Lottie Bruck, widow.

GEORGIANS STUDY SOUTH CAROLINA TAX FUND SYSTEM

Columbia, S. C., May 1.—(AP)—A delegation from Georgia today visited W. G. Query, chairman of the South Carolina tax commission, for investigation of the administration of the soft drink and tobacco laws in this state.

The visitors were Howell Cone, of Statesboro, Ga., state senator from Bullock county; Dr. Guy H. Wells, president of the Georgia Normal school at Statesboro, and A. T. Alfriend, secretary of the Georgia Education Association.

The visitors declared, Mr. Query said, the state of Georgia needed an additional $3,000,000 for educational purposes and they were studying South Carolina laws with a view to making an effort to raise the funds.

BRITISH WOMEN TURN DOWN OFFER MADE BY AMERICAN

London, May 1.—(AP)—The Rev. The minister said that he made the offer known to a large number of women and girls in his district, but while appreciating the offer all told the same tale.

"We would rather be poor in Islington than millionaires' wives in America."

Flyer Talks From Clouds To Folk Below

BY W. W. CHAPLIN.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Hadley Field, N. J., May 1.—(AP)—The airman of America were presented today with the means of speaking from cloudy peaks with their bosses, their sweethearts, or anyone else of the earthbound millions who have access to a regular telephone instrument.

The Western Electric Company demonstrated in a series of tests for the press an invention linking planes on the wing to the land lines of the commercial telephone system.

The first call was put through by an Associated Press reporter who wore a headset and speaking into a microphone held in his hand he gave the telephone number of the Associated Press office in New York to the Bell Telephone experimental radio station at Whippany, N. J., by wireless telephone.

A moment later he heard the A. P. switchboard operator respond and was switched to the city desk which in turn handed the call over to a rewrite man who took the report of the demonstration from the flying reporter.

Though the reporter in the plane was sitting only four feet from the radioing engine, from which he was separated only by a thin pane of glass, he could hear the people in the New York office as clearly as an ordinary phone conversation, and his words were plainly audible in New York.

The take-off was made in a driving rain but the telephone plane rode above the storm and the demonstration was made while 2,000 feet over Plainfield, N. J., and while the plane was making about 100 miles an hour.

Radio telephone between planes and radio sets around have been operated successfully for some time but never before perfection of the present invention, has it been possible to link planes to the regular commercial telephone system.

$50,000 DAMAGES ASKED IN DEATH OF BOY ON TRAIN

Mrs. Martha Hubbs Wednesday filed suit in city court against the Southern Railway Company for $50,000 damages for the death of her son, Savon O. Hubbs.

The plaintiff alleges that her son, 18, boarded a train of the defendant at Chattanooga with a ticket for Atlanta, May 4, 1927, and that a short time later his body, terribly mutilated, was found in the Missionary Ridge tunnel. The petition was filed by H. R. Lee and George and John L. Westmoreland.

POPE DECLARES CATHOLICS IN U. S. SHOULD BE HAPPY

Vatican City, May 1.—(AP)—Pope Pius, receiving Cardinal O'Connell Archbishop of Boston, late today declared Catholics in the United States should be extremely happy to be enjoying religious liberty because that was all the church asked.

The Pontiff showed himself deeply gratified at the progress of the Catholic church in the United States and told Cardinal O'Connell that he was most gratified the dean of American cardinals had come at the head of a Pilgrimage of 250 Catholics to honor him on the occasion of his sacerdotal jubilee.

HOUSE RECORD AGAIN LAGUARDIA SUBJECT

New York Member Wants Applause in Rum Runner's Killing Explained.

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, made a second unsuccessful attempt today to have the house expunge from the Congressional Record the words "applause" appearing in the report of a discussion of the killing of an alleged rum runner by a Washington policeman several days ago.

This time LaGuardia's request met the objection of Representative O'Connor, of New York, a wet democrat, who contended that the words should be left in the record for the sake of historical accuracy.

"There is no point about the applause," O'Connor said. "The republicans lay claim to it. It portrays the hysteria which can invade even the house of representatives. It is the sake of giving future generations a true picture of the situation, I think the words should remain in the record."

At the same time Representative Johnson, republican, Washington, who objected to the first request of LaGuardia, several days ago, said that he had understood the request to be to correct the record instead of expunge the words from it.

"The record already was correct," Johnson said, "and the removal of the word from it would make it incorrect. To expunge is one thing and to correct is quite another. I have not yet made up my mind whether to object to requests to change the record if the house applauds on one day and changes its mind on another."

Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, contended that the applause was for "the enforcement of the law and not for the regrettable incident caused by the death of the lawbreaker."

Referring to an observation of Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, that he had noted applause only from the republican side, Cramton referred to the record to show that following this remark there were cries of objection and claims that the democrats also applauded.

O'Connor replied to Cramton, declaring the Michigan member after sleeping over the matter now wanted to "implicate the democrats, who always stand for justice, in this national demonstration of Friday, last, and I say he has not made a case."

COST OF ATLANTA SCHOOLS STUDIED IN PUBLICATION

An article, "How Much Do the Atlanta Schools Cost?" features the current issue of "Our Schools," an official publication of the Atlanta school system.

In the feature article it is pointed out that the school budget for this year is the lowest in six years, with one exception, and that the enrollment equals the entire population of the city in 1890.

"For the training of 62,000 pupils, $2,544,021.50 has been provided, $432,552.69 less than the 1926 outlay for 56,254 pupils," the article states. In another section the issue is a tabulation of "More Pupils, Less Money," in which the expenditures, enrollment and cost per pupil for the past six years is given. Several tables of importance to those interested in Atlanta's schools are contained in the issue.

KEMP OPPOSES VAN SWERINGEN MERGER PLANS

Richmond, Va., May 1.—(AP)—George S. Kemp, member of the first stockholders' protective committee of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway and chairman of the second committee which has opposed other Van Sweringen mergers, today appeared before the Virginia state corporation commission to oppose the latest move for railroad consolidation by the Van Sweringens.

Mr. Kemp characterized the merger proposal as an attempt to unload on the Chesapeake and Ohio a number of bankrupt and overcapitalized railroads.

He expressed the opinion that the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Hocking Valley, the Chesapeake and Hocking, the Pere Marquette and the Virginian should be a complete system. He declared that he was appearing as a citizen of Virginia, a stockholder of the Chesapeake and Ohio and on behalf of other stockholders not named.

Kemp said he could see no reason why the C. & O. should buy the Pittsburgh, Shawmut and Northern and the Pittsburgh and Shawmut, which he characterized as "bankrupt."

He said such purchase would in all likelihood cause serious financial embarrassment to the C. & O.

ELEPHANTS WILL BE MANY AS RIPPON NOTES G. O. P. BIRTH

Ripon, Wis., May 1.—(AP)—Regardless of how many people participate in this city's celebration in June to observe its claim as the birth place of the republican party, there will be at least plenty of elephants. And despite the common belief that all elephants are republicans, the parade is likely to be represented at the head of the parade with one—and possibly two—baby pachyderms.

Organizers of the celebration, after cavassing circuses and zoos without success for an elephant, a few days ago said that following newspaper stories of their plight they had been deluged with offers of elephants for rent.

Today the owner of two baby elephants offered them to represent the republican party. He said he was a democrat as were the elephants but he had no objection to having them lead a republican parade.

AIR MAIL TIME COAST TO COAST IS CUT ONE DAY

San Francisco, May 1.—(AP)—San Francisco and New York today were moved one business day nearer each other in air mail deliveries with the inauguration of a twice daily transcontinental schedule.

The new schedule started last night when Ray Little, Boeing Air Transport pilot, left Oakland airport at 8 p. m. with the first night air mail for New York.

The early morning departures for the east, which have been in effect for some time, will remain unchanged.

Under the night schedule letters from San Francisco will reach New York in two nights and one day. A similar schedule will bring the west-bound mail to the Pacific coast for a correspondingly earlier delivery.

IN DIVORCE SUIT THREATS ALLEGED PISTOL AND RAZOR

Charging that her husband threatened her with a pistol on one occasion and with a razor on another, Mrs. Lorraine F. Stocks Wednesday filed suit in Fulton superior court for a divorce from Robert F. Stocks. Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy signed a temporary order restraining Stocks from calling up or visiting Mrs. Stocks.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant locked her and their infant son out of their bedroom, after ordering her to leave the house.

In her petition, Mrs. Stocks alleges that her husband frequently remained out late at night and that he had been locked up in the police station several times for speeding, on suspicion in connection with robbery of taxicab drivers, and on a charge of impersonating an officer.

The defendant was discharged by the city from his employment as a truck driver, and has not worked since. In fact I do not believe I would approve a sale of same at $1,000,000. I do not think we should offer it for sale at this time at any price."

Councilman Berman has offered a proposal which will be submitted to council that the property at Marietta and Forsyth streets be sold to the highest bidder, providing the bid is not less than $500,000 and proceeds would be used, under this plan, to build a new police and fire department headquarters, to employ additional policemen and to furnish the new city hall now under construction at Washington and Mitchell streets.

200 SAW MURDER OF M'GOVERN; ONLY ONE WITNESS FOUND

Chicago, May 1.—(AP)—Although the slaying of "Stubby" McGovern and William McFadden took place last New Year's eve in the presence of 200 persons, a criminal case was available to the state at the trial of George Maloney for the double shooting.

The orchestra at the Granada cafe was playing, and the dance floor was filled when Maloney walked over to the table where McGovern and McFadden, well-known gangsters, were seated. When the shooting started, there was a frantic rush for exits and places of protection by men and women in evening dress.

By the time police arrived the cafe was empty, except for the two bodies lying on the floor. Maloney was arrested at the door as he attempted, with smoking pistol still in his hand, to walk out.

By the testimony of his one witness the state hopes to prove that Maloney was the first to draw a weapon. No weapons were fired by either McGovern or McFadden.

GETS RENO DIVORCE, MARRIED AGAIN; JAILED FOR BIGAMY

Montreal, May 1.—(AP)—Assad Eddy, recently found guilty of bigamy in the United States, was arrested at the border to Reno, Nev., was sentenced yesterday by Judge J. O. Lacroix to two months in jail and a fine of $1,000.

Eddy was arrested on a complaint signed by his second wife, Zahal Bakaret, whom he married in Malone, N. Y., in 1912.

A similar case is scheduled to be heard shortly before a jury in the courts of king's bench here and will be watched with interest by the legal profession as well as many Canadians whose second marriage was contracted under like circumstances.

TENNESSEE CIGAR BOX PLANT STRIKE CALLS GUARD OUT

Johnson City, Tenn., April 1.—(AP) National guardsmen ordered out from Athens, Tenn., to patrol the plant of the American Cigar Box Company, arrived at noon today and were being placed on duty. Mayor W. J. Barton and Sheriff J. B. Worley said the troops were called as a precautionary measure and not from immediate fear of violence from strikers who walked out and closed the plant last week.

Adjutant General W. C. Boyd, commander of the Tennessee national guard, said he would assume command of the troops here and at Elizabethton, where two rayon plants have been guarded from strikers for several weeks.

Murder Decree Of Florida Court Reversed on Error

Tallahassee, Fla., May 1.—(AP)—A life sentence for conviction of second degree murder, returned in the circuit court for Volusia county against Eddie Peate was reversed today by the Florida supreme court.

Pell was convicted of the killing of D. E. Walker, after an altercation. The reversal was on the ground that a search warrant held by Walker at the time of the killing was improperly admitted, and that the trial judge's charge to the jury was in error.

MAYOR OPPOSES SALE OF CITY HALL SITE

Ragsdale Particularly Against Accepting $750,000 for Building.

In a letter Wednesday to Councilman J. E. Berman, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale definitely committed himself as being against the sale of Atlanta's present city hall site and particularly opposed to any deal to sell the structure at a low price of $750,000 which it is reported will be presented to city council at its meeting next Monday.

In the letter Mayor Ragsdale quotes the city tax assessor's valuation of the property at $893,820 for the land and $125,000 for the building. "I believe this valuation is very conservative," the mayor wrote, "and therefore, could not favor a sale of this property at $750,000. In fact I do not believe I would approve a sale of same at $1,000,000. I do not think we should offer it for sale at this time at any price."

Councilman Berman has offered a proposal which will be submitted to council that the property at Marietta and Forsyth streets be sold to the highest bidder, providing the bid is not less than $500,000 and proceeds would be used, under this plan, to build a new police and fire department headquarters, to employ additional policemen and to furnish the new city hall now under construction at Washington and Mitchell streets.

SYLVESTER MAN TAKES OWN LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Sylvestre, Ga., May 1.—(Special.) Thomas A. Gregory, 36, committed suicide at his home here early today by locking himself in the bath room and shooting himself, through the heart with a shotgun. Financial troubles are thought to have caused the act. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. A. B. Gregory; a wife and two children, Lamar and Mary Gregory, of Sylvestre, and one sister, Mrs. L. L. Wooten, of Wilmington, N. C. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

There were no witnesses to the shooting, but officers reconstructed the killing of the cashier, said the robber must have ordered Cook to open a door leading to the cashier's cage and when Cook refused fired through the glass.

HOOPER CHOOSES BEST OR TO FILL FARM BOARD POST

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Horace Paul Bestor, of St. Louis, was nominated today by President Hoover to be a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board, filling up the unexpired term of Commissioner Eugene Meyer, who has resigned.

Mr. Bestor, whose term will end August 3, 1931, has been president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis since August, 1922, and of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Louis since June, 1923.

He was born at Clearfield, Iowa, in 1882, was a teacher in the California public schools, a member of the National Geographic Society expedition to Peru in 1925, and member of the Missouri house of representatives from 1920 to 1922. ## YOUTH IS JAILED FOR KILLING BANK CASHIER IN HOLD-UP

Ironton, Mo., May 1.—(AP)—Dallas Sutton, 21, of Annapolis, Mo., was in jail here today in connection with the killing of H. W. Cook, 60-year-old cashier of the Bank of Des Arc, in an attempted bank holding yesterday afternoon. He was caught on a highway between Annapolis and Brunot, Mo.

Bill Wirley and Everett Fink were trying in vain for Sutton. He offered no resistance.

Sutton was recognized as he fled from the bank by Fred Silver, a barber, who said he saw Sutton still carrying a revolver in his hand.

There were no witnesses to the shooting, but officers reconstructed the killing of the cashier, said the robber must have ordered Cook to open a door leading to the cashier's cage and when Cook refused fired through the glass.

DRY MEN USED GIRLS TO SECURE EVIDENCE

Agents Are Suspended When Stories of Girls Are Ruled Out in Court.

Columbus, Ohio, May 1.—(AP)—State Prohibition Agents Edward Lile and John O. Cole were under suspension with severe reprimands from federal and state officials today for using two 18-year-old girls to obtain evidence in a liquor case, thrown out of federal court yesterday upon the girls' admission that they drank wine with the agents after the raid.

Little and Cole presented Miss Carrie Walton and Miss Katherine Ginn as witnesses that they had bought liquor from Harry Poole and Amos Frankhauser in a hearing before United States Commissioner Joseph W. Horner. When the girls testified that they went for an automobile ride and drank wine with the agents after the men were arrested Horner dismissed the case, charged the men with "exceeding the bounds of propriety" and earned them to remain out of his court "unless your hands are clean."

Suspension of the two men at the office of State Prohibition Commissioner Rupert K. Beetham followed, with the announcement that an investigation will be made. Governor Meyer Y. Cooper issued a statement condemning the practice of using minors to obtain prohibition evidence, and declared it would not be tolerated among state officers.

FLORIDA INFESTED FRUIT IS SEIZED IN GEORGIA PORT

A. M. Metcalf, of the Georgia state board of entomology, left here Wednesday night for Orlando, Fla., center of the Mediterranean fruit fly infestation, to make a survey of conditions. He will report back to the board about Saturday.

Simultaneously with announcement of Mr. Metcalf's trip, Manning S. Yeomans, state entomologist, announced that a shipment of Florida infested fruit from the north, probably sent through by boat to Charleston or some other port farther north and sent back by rail, had been discovered today in Savannah.

To prevent a recurrence of such breaking of the quarantine, Mr. Yeomans announced that inspection activities of his department would be extended to ports and railroad centers as well as the Florida line, which already is patrolled.

SEIZED FRUIT IS DESTROYED.

Savannah, Ga., May 1.—(AP)—V. C. Durham, inspector of the United States agriculture department in Savannah, announced tonight that the shipment of grapefruit referred to by Manning S. Yeomans, state entomologist, as having been infested Florida fruit from the north arriving in Savannah today, was not known to be infested but was destroyed because of the suspicion attaching to it and also because of the irregular way in which it came to Savannah, this being a violation of the quarantine against the Mediterranean fruit fly.

LIQUOR OFFICIALS CONCLUDE PARLEY IN CITY TODAY

A three-day conference of the legal advisors of the prohibition administrators of the southeastern states will be concluded today in the court room of the circuit court of appeals in the Federal building, with a continuation of a discussion of the Jones law and all other statutes pertaining to prohibition enforcement.

Judge James J. Britt, chief counsel for the prohibition bureau, is presiding at the conferences and sessions have been held twice daily since Tuesday. The purpose of the gathering, it has been explained, is to clarify some of the more technical questions involved in prohibition enforcement in order to secure uniform action by administrators all over the country. In discussing the Jones law Tuesday it was explained that its provisions did not cover the possession of liquor but was concerned with the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation of this beverage.

MISS REO FLOCK HITS JUMP SNAG IN U. S. RULING

Rules of the department of commerce which forbid "stunting" over gatherings of people may result in the cancellation of the plans of Miss Reo Flock to make a parachute leap at Lakewood park Saturday, it was learned here Wednesday. Leo Wilson, supervising inspector of the department of commerce, stated that the rules for flyers as set down by the department prohibit stunting over gatherings of people and that would hold any pilot personally responsible for permitting anyone to jump from his ship over a crowd. It was pointed out that the government had no control whatever over Miss Flock's actions and that the rule governing the pilots was involved. Miss Flock, it is stated, is determined to make the jump if she can persuade anyone to take her aloft.

PLANE PRODUCTION SEEN THIS YEAR

ward Whitehead, an associate of Prudden in the designing and manufacturing of planes in the south is experimental," Mr. Candler said. "It will be financed by Atlanta capital. If we are successful the product which we propose to produce will write Atlanta's name in aviation circles of the nation."

"We have applied for a charter, and are pushing formation of the company. Our application asks for a $150,000 capitalization. If the venture is successful, that amount will be doubled and any other amount necessary to produce the best machine possible will be forthcoming. Those interested in the project have ample financial backing."

List of Subscribers.
Mr. Wardlaw called the list of those who have subscribed to the proposition including Henry C. Heinz, Charles Nunnally, Robert E. McDox, Richard Courts and Ernest Woodruff, all of whom are outstanding figures in local financial circles.

"Our machine was tested by the Massachusetts School of Technology and was pronounced to be 18 per cent more efficient in every respect than any other commercial plane ever put through the tests," Mr. Prudden declared. "We believe we have a product of which Atlanta will be proud."

Mr. Prudden formerly was an engineer in the Ford plane works at Detroit, and has had wide experience in the field. He served with the expeditionary forces in Italy during the World War and is declared to be a competent designer.

Organization of the aircraft company will be completed as soon as the charter is granted, it was announced Wednesday and no time will be lost in perfecting details incident to an early start of production.

Work Delayed By Rain.
County forces were to have begun work on Candler field this morning but due to the heavy rains the work has been delayed until Friday. A. A. Clarke, superintendent of public works, announced. Runways will be lengthened until they are 2,700 feet minimum and every facility to make the airport the best in the south will be provided. Atlanta recently acquired title to the property from Candler, Inc., by payment of $84,500.

Coincident with announcement of officials of a phenomenal growth in the air mail handled from the local port, J. H. Woody, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, appointed Dr. Herbert B. Kennedy chairman of a committee in charge of a celebration of "Air Mail Week" in Atlanta, May 14-19.

Other members of Dr. Kennedy's committee are Cyril Dieter, William Beecher, Slater Marshall, Mike May, John K. Otley, Jr., V. V. Price and Mackay Solenberg. Plans for a fitting observance, designed to further interest the public in the advantages of utilizing air mail are being perfected.

Read what prominent architects and builders have to say about the absolute silence, the dependability, and low operating cost of the Electrolux Refrigerator.

Metropolitan NEW YORK

"Goes ELECTROLUX"

WITHIN 7 MONTHS

In world's most competitive market, 154 new apartment buildings choose the Gas Refrigerator . . . 11,542 units

FIRST offered for sale at the end of 1926—today in tens of thousands of homes the country over. That, briefly, outlines the tremendous success of Electrolux, the Gas Refrigerator.

A success not confined to any one section of the country, to any one city or group of cities. Even in the Metropolitan New York district—long noted for its keen competition, and always looked upon as the world's hardest place in which to introduce a new product—the record of Electrolux has been phenomenal. In this one territory, in just one field alone—that of better-class new apartment houses—Electrolux within seven short months has been chosen as standard equipment in 154 new buildings—requiring a total of 11,542 refrigerators.

A sensational success, but not surprising to those who have followed the development of the Gas Refrigerator. Not a single moving part. No motor. No machinery. Nothing but a tiny gas flame to vaporize a refrigerating liquid and a mere trickle of water to condense it back again. The result—intense, even cold, plenty of pure sparkling ice cubes, but never a whisper of sound, never any trouble, and all this at the lowest cost in history.

For six years it was tested, improved and refined; tried out under practical operating conditions. It was investigated thoroughly by scientists, engineers, refrigerating men. It was tested for months by nationally known authorities such as Good Housekeeping Institute, Delineator, New York Herald Tribune, National Board of Fire Underwriters—and approved by all.

Architects and builders too, men who buy only on the basis of cold facts, examined Electrolux carefully . . . and became enthusiastic.

Mr. Victor C. Farrar of Farrar & Watmough, for instance, an architect of over twenty years' standing who has designed some of New York's noted buildings, has this to say:

"Electrolux, a comparative newcomer in the field, is the most interesting and remarkable development of all. The substitution of a silent little gas flame for all other operating mechanism is a great achievement. From the building owner's standpoint, it means greater length of life and freedom from service. From the woman's standpoint it means simplified, dependable, trouble-free operation, at a lower cost than ever before."

Or among the builders, take the opinion of Mr. J. Irving Walsh. His firm, J. Irving Walsh, Inc., develops better-class apartment properties in the fashionable Washington Square and lower Fifth Avenue section of New York. He says:

"Every successful builder in the apartment house field tries to use equipment that will best provide for the comfort and happiness of tenants, and at the same time keep down future maintenance costs. Electrolux, the Gas Refrigerator, meets this qualification. I have had a long experience with automatic refrigeration, but I like Electrolux and use it because I find it is absolutely noiseless, and in the kitchen you can not only depend upon it to operate perfectly, but at far lower cost than any other refrigerating system."

That is the story of Electrolux. Only one thing remains—you must see this Gas Refrigerator. Call at the nearest display room. Look at the interesting models and wide range of sizes, in white or two beautiful color combinations. Prices range from $210 to $510, f.o.b. Evansville, Indiana. Purchase terms are liberal and the operating cost is remarkably low.

QUICK FACTS

- No sound
- No moving parts
- No oiling—No trouble
- Costs less to operate
- Lasts indefinitely

Stripling Plans Outdoor Boxing Arena Here; Johnson Jinx Tames Crackers in Final

PA' STRIBLING PLANS BOXING ARENA HERE

Option on Lot Secured. Construction Will Be Started Soon.

Construction of an outdoor boxing arena, centrally located in Atlanta, and organization of a stock company to promote big bouts here, is planned by "Pa" Stripling.

Option on a lot has been secured and contract for construction of the arena will be let within a few weeks, the elder Stripling said last night. A conference with the contractor was scheduled for Tuesday, but the latter was prevented from returning in time from a business trip and the conference postponed.

Stripling long has harbored his plan to help finance an arena in Atlanta, turn the matchmaking and business management over to Atlanta men, and make Atlanta the fistic center of the south.

"Atlanta leads in all other sports," he says, "why not in the staging of worthwhile boxing matches?" Contractors have been asked to figure on an arena that will seat 4,000 people, and built along the lines of a basketball court. When the arena has earned its living as a boxing site in the summer, it is planned to enclose it and lease it for basketball, wrestling and boxing in the winter.

Meanwhile the Striplings—Pa and W. L.—are uncertain as to their plans for the next month. They have been advised unofficially to stand by to substitute for Paulino or Schmeling if necessary on the milk fund card in New York. And an offer for several bouts in Europe has been tabled pending the chance for a New York bout.

6-Round Fights Hanlon's Scheme

Another boxing card of six-round bouts, a style of entertainment that has proved popular with Atlanta fans, will be staged May 7 at the city auditorium under direction of Eddie Hanlon.

Hanlon was the promoter who conceived the idea of staging a series of six-round bouts when he furnished ring entertainment for a group of automobile dealers here some time ago. The show was a smashing success. The visitors were so impressed with the quick decisions presented by this type of entertainment.

Hanlon announced last night he had looked six fights of six rounds each pitting the best Atlanta talent with hard working boys from this section outside Atlanta. He promises a card of furious fighting.

A novelty he plans is a battle royal between heavyweight negroes wearing sugar socks and fighting six rounds. Among the principals in the six-rounders are such popular scrappers as George Avery, Tommy Glesby, Young Jack Dempsey, Spencer Carter. The complete card will be completed today, Hanlon announced. Popular prices will rule.

500-Mile Race Entries Close

Indianapolis, May 1.—Twenty-nine cars have been entered in the annual 500-mile grand prize automobile race to be run at the Indianapolis motor speedway May 30, it was announced today.

Entries closed at midnight tonight and the speedway management said the list likely would reach 40 by that time. The contest will be limited to the 33 fastest machines.

Two European cars and drivers are among the probable starters, and if they meet the speed requirements will give the race the first international aspect it has had in several years. The drivers are Louis Chiron, European driving champion in 1928, and Guiseppe Comotti, an Italian star. American entries include Louis Meyer, winner here last year; Leon Duray, who holds the local track record for 212 miles and for 10 races; Tom Moore, who finished second in 1928; Bob McDonough, Tony Giletta, Cliff Durant, Cliff Woodbury, Ray Kewch, until several weeks ago holder of the world's straight-away mark for a mile, and Ralph Hepburn.

Jim Thorpe Loses Olympic Medals

New York, May 1.—(AP)—Jim Thorpe, famous athlete, has no chance of recovering his old Olympic medals or trophies, Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, said today in indicating that Thorpe's proposed application for reinstatement was not taken seriously.

"Thorpe's medals, returned after he was discovered to have violated amateur rules, went to the runners-up in the Olympic championships he won, namely the pentathlon and decathlon," Ferris said.

After his long professional career in baseball and football, Thorpe hardly would have any grounds for seeking reinstatement as an amateur, even if he was still an active competitor. This looks like just a little bellyache. Thorpe stated last night that he would apply for reinstatement in amateur athletics. He admitted he has engaged in semi-pro sports but will seek to recover his lost trophies.

AWAY LIKE THE WIND AT DIXIE LAKES

The picture above shows just how the fleet greyhounds are started at the Dixie Lakes Kennel Club. The dogs are placed in numbered stalls and on signal from the starter, the gate is snapped open electrically, releasing all the dogs at once. Away they go—unless one of them happens to be dozing when the door lifts as was the case in the picture above when No. 5 was left in the box. One can imagine the chagrin of his owner. Photo by Kenneth Rogers.

No wonder Tot Wilson broke his hand in his fight with Willie Ptoomey at the auditorium Tuesday night. No harder hitter among the welterweights has ever climbed into an Atlanta ring, it seems to me.

It is stretching it a bit to call Wilson a welterweight. He is a slim, long-muscled lad who looks lighter than 140 pounds.

But when he hits with that right hand—every ounce of him is concentrated at the tip of his knotted glove. Tot was pretty smart, too, in opening Willie Ptoomey up for a few rounds and he crossed it over nicely. Later he fired before the smart, alert defense of Ptoomey and began telegraphing it.

Tot, they say, knocked Jack Britton flat in their bout at Macon recently. That is easy to believe. When Wilson develops a little more control and can keep his right behind the bone-breaking target of an opponent's skull, he may develop into an old fashioned slugging welterweight.

RUNNING WILD.

Wayward Boye rides the street cars to save parking worries. But the All-American worrier has a new one now. He frets over where the motorman has gone in the street car that adorns the masthead of "Two Bells."

POOR SCREEN SUBJECT.

Tom Coleman, purveyor of screen classics, has been running an advertising trailer concerning this Sports department. His report on last week follows and is charming in its frankness. Tom writes:

"No applause followed the showing of the short subject mentioned. However, many patrons said on leaving the theater that you bore a remarkable resemblance to Lon Chaney. And you know, Chaney rarely gets applause."

BISCUIT OR BISCUITS.

Correspondence is solicited on a subject that has all but broken up one home and may result most any time in murder. The question is:

What is the plural of "biscuit?" Is it "biscuits" or "bisquits?" Is "bisquit" correctly used as a collective noun? Or is it strictly a colloquialism to say: "We had bisquit for breakfast."

The question was revived in my life on reading a piece written for this paper by Ralph McGill, of Tennessee, in which he referred to the delicious biscuit (no "s") served at a certain farm in Tennessee and obviously meant more than one. In fact, McGill cannot even think of just one biscuit, let alone write of one.

A year or so ago, it was called sharply to my attention by One Who Knows that "biscuit" was singular and that "bisquits" was the plural. It took her a long time to convince me. But for more than a year, now, I have been saying "bisquits" right on when referring to more than one.

I had been so long away from Kentucky that I could not be absolutely sure whether I was right or wrong. McGill, who reads books, says that one no more should say "bisquits" than deers or sheeps. He says that folks always say "bisquit" up his way.

I wish I had thought of that deers-and-sheeps comeback a few years ago; I would not have lost caste as I did.

But still—I am not entirely convinced and would like weight of evidence. Is biscuit plural merely in Tennessee and Kentucky or does it go in Georgia too.

TECH ALUMNI MEET SATURDAY

Tech-Georgia Games Draw Many Graduates Here for Meeting.

Local and out-of-town alumni of Georgia Tech are preparing to meet in full force during this week-end for the first two games of the Tech-Georgia baseball series, Friday and Saturday, and for the regular annual business meeting of the National Alumni Association at noon Saturday.

While both games will draw the usual large and colorful Tech-Georgia crowd, all indications point to the fact that the game on Saturday at Spillars field will bring out one of the biggest baseball gatherings of the year. Friday's game will start promptly at 4 o'clock and the one on Saturday at 3 o'clock.

The association will call its meeting at noon Saturday in the Tech Y. M. C. A. auditorium on the corner of North Avenue and Fowler street. Important business concerning all Tech men will come up for attention; this, alone, will bring out a large and representative crowd from the alumni of the institution, all of whom have been urgently invited to attend.

Tickets in the Tech alumni section will be available at the alumni meeting for the game on Saturday afternoon. Some of the luckier members will be presented with a ticket with the compliments of the national association. Other tickets may be procured in advance from the office of the Tech Athletic Association on North Avenue.

Mr. George T. Marchmont, president of the National Association, will preside at the alumni meeting, which will adjourn at 1 o'clock.

Umpires Agree On Foul Rule

Chicago, May 1.—(AP)—His driven out of American association baseball parks this season will be ruled fair or foul, depending upon where they passed over the fence, umpires of the league decided today at a meeting with President Hickey.

The arbiters decided not to follow the ruling of President Hickey of the National league that a ball batted over the fence be adjudged fair or foul, according to its position where it landed.

President Hickey took advantage of the first off day of the season to call the meeting to agree on uniform rulings.

Montreal Players Win Hard Matches

Toronto, May 1.—(AP)—Two Montreal players, Dr. Jack Wright and Willard Crocker, both veterans of many years in competition, dominated today's play in the Canadian Davis cup play. Each came through to victory after stiff struggles.

Wright took up his match where he left it yesterday with one set for his opponent, Dr. Art Han, of Toronto, and the games standing 2-1 in the second. Han took the second set, but Wright came back with a brilliant burst, worthy of his No. 1 ranking, and carried off the match by scores of 3-6, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

JACKET GAME IS RAINED OUT

Teams Unable To Play on Soaked Diamond; Slated Today at 4.

Rain soaked the diamond at Clay field yesterday afternoon and left the Jackets and the South Carolina Gamecocks with no chance to start their baseball warfare.

The Engineers were slated to meet the club from the University of South Carolina at the Flats Wednesday afternoon in the first of a two-game series. The two teams will play this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

CULLOP CASE UP TO ROBBIE

Tom Leach, Cracker Emissary, Talks to Brooklyn Boss.

Tommy Leach, plenipotentiary baseball minister of the Atlanta Crackers, reported some progress in his attempt to reduce Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson to a mood wherein he will turn over to the Crackers Nick Cullop, slugging outfielder, it was learned Wednesday afternoon.

Usual Rally Fails To Overtake Bears; New Orleans Next

Good's Crew Held to Eight Hits by Nemesis Pitcher—Dark Day Helps Fred's Sizzling Fast Ball.

Mobile, Ala., May 1.—He probably isn't a relative of the famous Big Train, but Freddie Johnson, premier Mobile right-hander, pitched yesterday just as though he was shooting at some record hung up by Johnson. He waved his right wing in such a baffling fashion that Wilbur Good's Crackers from Atlanta, chesty over three successive triumphs over the Bears, stood by and watched Frederick Jockey the home boys to a 5-to-2 victory in the final tilt of the series. It was Mobile's first win on home grounds and incidentally was a stab on the jaw of Bruins' losing streak which up to this afternoon, had traversed over eight straight days.

Johnson and Howard "Dutch" Welch, nifty little outfielder, conspired against the Crackers. Old Freddie did the hitting. Johnson didn't lack anything in the pitching line and what "Dutch" failed to do with his bludgeon, other Bears did. Against such a combination, the visitors were mystified. They did not think a ball club like Mobile could trim 'em.

Perhaps Manager Hulswitt at last has found a combination after juggling his line-up day after day. Today saw Johnny Chapman, from the San Antonio club, take a three and "Dutch" Hoffman was planted at first to replace Stuyvenberg.

CRACKERS HELPLESS.

For the first four innings Freddie held the Crackers absolutely helpless and gave up only one hit, the only one to Archie Dean in the initial round. After Archie had registered his sock, the other Crackers were in field outs. In the third, two met death via the infield route and another skied out. One strikeout and two infield outs were on the menu for the visitors in the third and the same thing happened in the fourth, so good was Johnson's flinging.

The Bears went after 'em in the initial round. Dumas went out and Chapman singled to short. Susko poked a one-lunger to right and Chapman went to third. Then Welch batted in and poked a single to short. Chapman scoring and Susko taking third. Eggert bounced a single to left and Susko counted with Welch going to third and Eggert to second on Susko's throw. Hoffman sacrificed fly to Archie Dean and Welch counted.

At the fifth, Susko singled to center and Welch counted. In the sixth, Susko counted a pair of hits in the fifth but was unable to score. Brainerd and Marriott were easy outs. Jones and Lopez singled. In the seventh, Susko sacrificed fly to tap a weak roller to the pitching staff.

SUSKO SWIPES BASE.

Mobile came back with a fourth run in the fifth. Susko singled to right, stole second went to third when Welch got a hit to third. Eggert fouled out to Lopez at the stands and Susko scored after Chapman singled to left and Susko counted with Welch going to third and Eggert to second on Susko's throw.

Miller's final run came in the seventh. Moore singled to center and Johnson was safe when Haley dropped Marriott's throw on his grounder. Moore halting at second. Dumas forced Moore at third and Chapman skied to Rosefield. Marriott let the throw in get away from him and the ball rolled to the catcher, Johnson scoring.

CRACKERS SCORE.

The Crackers scored only in the eighth. After Wade, pinch hitting for Olsen, starter for the Crackers, had fanned, Archie Dean batted a single over Johnson's head. Shewhan singled to right and after Rosefield fouled out Haley batted a one-bagger to right to count the run. The final one of the visitors was in the ninth when Jones singled with one down, went to second on Hoffman's error of Lopez's grounder and came across when "Red" Oldham, pinch-hitting for Brice, who succeeded Olsen, hit a sacrifice fly to Susko.

Welch's sensational hitting was continued when he registered three out of four, making eight hits he has obtained out of 11 times at bat since playing with the Bears. Susko made a remarkable catch of Marriott's long fly in the second inning.

6,000 Atlantans See Dog Race Opening

Gay Crowd Surges at Dixie Lakes—Prizes Distributed.

By Ralph McGill.

Man's noblest friends let themselves in for a lot of cheering and a lot of panning Wednesday night at Dixie Lakes as the greyhound racing season got under way.

Some six thousand people let themselves into the enclosure where the band was playing and the hounds were in the paddock. And what some of them had to say about man's noblest friend was nobody's business.

There were quite a few people tearing up little red and orange tickets after each race and they were not saying kind things. And there were a few who lived up to the old tradition and yelped immoderate praise of the dumb animals.

Atlanta surged out to the races. They came by automobile and by bus. They were there to have a good time and they had it. There was lots of laughter and lots of happy hurrying about. The weather was threatening but it would have been difficult to care for many more. The stands were filled and hundreds more stood along the track. There was no disorder, no unpleasant sights. It was a holiday crowd from Atlanta enjoying itself.

It was quite a relief to find that there was no gambling going on. There were ever so many of the constabulary out wearing bright new badges and innocent looks. They just stood around until the races started. Then they looked at the races.

"NO BETTING."

There was quite a lot of puzzled looks coming in through the gate. The first thing one saw was a lot of signs which said: "NO BETTING."

There were two rows of windows where one might purchase tickets to the grandstand. As an inducement to bring the family, the grandstand seats were sold in blocks of four each. They were 50 cents each, and that makes two dollars.

Quite a lot of people bought the paddocks and then stood around milling in and out. The grandstand was right there. But no one went and sat down.

FREE COUPONS.

They reached the information booth eventually. And some very courteous gentlemen there told them that if they cared to they could go on down to another row of windows and get a complimentary profit-sharing coupon. They were absolutely free to people holding grandstand seats.

It was surprising how many faces lighted up and how many presented themselves at the windows and got the free tickets. And then it really developed how very noble is man's friend. It was enough to make one growlachrymose and want to get out and write home to mother to see how noble man's best friend really is. Three of the dogs were given prizes. And just to show how generous the dogs were, they gave their friends, who had taken out the complimentary tickets with their numbers on them, a share of the prize. Such open-handed generosity is

Twink, Derby Colt, Beaten as Long Shot Pays at Pimlico

STRETCH DRIVE WINS FEATURE FOR MINOTAUR

My Sis and Too High Stage Battle for Place.

New York, May 1.—(A.P.) Capping a day of upsets, Minotaur, three-year-old son of Sun Briar-Irish Lady, II, turned in one of the longest shot victories of the spring racing season today to win the Rennett Handicap at Pimlico. Minotaur paid her backers $104.90 for each $2 mutuel ticket.

Coming from behind and losing with a rush, Minotaur won going away by three lengths from My Sis. Too High was only a nose behind My Sis in the battle for the place.

Minotaur, carrying the silks of C. Grafmiller, galloped the spring distance of six furlongs in 1:13. The race was worth $5,420 net to the winner.

Twink Falls.

The running of the Rennett marked the return of Twink from the Loma stable, rated as one of the leading two-year-olds last year. Ridden by Fields he ran a poor race, however, and was never in the running.

Only one favorite came through in the day's racing at Pimlico. Water Lad led the field to the finish wire in the sixth race to pay $66.50 to win while other outsiders paid their backers sums amounting from $10 to $20 for each $2 ticket.

J. L. Holland's Ramoner, ridden by La Verne Fator, romped away from the field in the six furlong spring, at Jamaica. For several minutes after the race there was some doubt if Ramoner had won as it appeared that Fator shot off Clever at the far turn. The two horses got away to a flying start and ran head and head to the far turn. Suddenly Inezelone, on Clever, was forced to take back and finished fourth and last. The place went to Ironsides by a nose from Delan.

Today's racing at the New York track marked the first victory of the season on the Metropolitan turf for A. Robertson, the little jockey who carried off rider honors at Bowie and Havre de Grace. Robertson was up on Snooze, the winner of the fifth race.

LUCILLE WINS.

Lucille, carrying the colors of Stone and Rucker, was victorious over a field of four starters in the Hinata stakes, a 1-2-furlong spring for two-year-olds last year. The victory brought Lucille's record for the season to five wins in 10 starts. The place was won by Lucille Ann, which was an easy second in the race. Lucille's record for the season is 10 wins in 10 starts. The place was won by Lucille Ann, which was an easy second in the race. Lucille's record for the season is 10 wins in 10 starts.

Johnson Horses

Sold on Block.

Lexington, Ky., May 1.—(A.P.) Headed by Brown Wisdom, three-year-old, which brought the top price of $8,500, 18 thoroughbreds, 12 in training and six yearlings, belonging to Frederick Johnson, of New York, were auctioned today at the Kentucky association track for a total of $50,400, an average of $2,800 each. The string of 12 represented all Johnson had prepared for the races this year. He was known as breeding activities at his Scarlet Gate farm. Brown Wisdom was bought by a Lexington breeder and owner, J. Cal Milan.

Mr. Jinks Captures Big English Race

Newmarket, England, May 1.—(A.P.) The two thousand guinea stakes of one mile, early season racing classic which is regarded as a dress rehearsal for the Derby, was won today by Major McCalmont's Mr. Jinks by a head from Lord Astor's Cragsdale. This well-matched pair, joint favorites for the derby, led home a field of 20 others, many of which are also entered in the blue-ribbon race at Epsom. Mr. Jinks, son of Tetramata-False Dicks, had won his previous three races.

Prelim Race.

Some of the auto racers entered in the Indianapolis classic will tune up on the North Randall track near Cleveland in the 100-mile race May 12.

The SPOTLIGHT SPORTS

SPORTING CELEBRITIES.

NO. 3—JACK DEMPSEY.

The old dreams swing before his eyes,
The ruling power of the fist,
The ancient salvo to the skies,
The vanished crown that he has missed.

The mocking memory of years
Return again to haunt each night,
The old time thunder of the cheers,
The thrill and fury of the fight.

He sees big Willard sway and crash,
He sees the shaggy Firpo prone,
He feels again the savage slash,
Of leather hurled at flesh and bone.

The years have marched since his big day,
And youth can linger just so long,
Before its liltiness fades away
In battle of the swift and strong.

But when he sees the present crop
He thinks "Why not? Some dreams come true;
Just one more brawl before I stop,
Just one more shot before I'm through."

The monster crowd—the blazing lights,
Where heart beats echo like a drum,
The sudden swirl of fists and rights,
The ancient clamor—"Kill the bum!"

The old dream swims before his gaze,
Raw action in the warring list,
Just one more shot before the days
Have marched too far beyond his fist.

"I'd like to match the Cub's Murderer Row against the Yankee Murderers' Row," writes a Cub fan. "By which I mean the four top sluggers of the Cubs will make more hits and drive in more runs than any four members of the Huggins' outfit. It's a set up."

BROWN'S BATTLE LINE.

You can't shove football to one side, not even when May blossoms are beginning to unfurl. Robert Craven wants to know what university can show a harder football schedule than Brown faces next fall. As follows: September 28, Springfield college; October 5, Rhode Island State; October 12, Princeton at Princeton; October 19, Yale at New Haven; October 26, Syracuse at Syracuse; November 2, Holy Cross at Worcester; November 9, Dartmouth at Providence; November 16, Norwich at Providence; November 23, New Hampshire State; November 30, Colgate at Providence.

This schedule calls for at least six tough games of major caliber. "When one realizes," writes Mr. Craven, "that Brown is restricted to an enrollment of 1,300 students and it offers no athletic scholarships," Coach McLaughry agrees with Alonzo Stagg that spring training should be optional with the players, not an enforced performance.

This is undoubtedly the answer to spring practice. If 200 students like football enough to improve their play, spring practice is as fine an exercise as they can get, without any accompanying hallelujahs. If they look on it as enforced drudgery it will do little good along any line, and is not worth fooling with.

6,000 Atlantans See Dog Race Opening

Almost unheard of and probably explains why so many dogs are leading a dog's life.

GENEROSITY.

For instance, Clark Her Up presented her friends who had taken a first prize ticket with $12, friends with second prize tickets with $9.10 and friends who had taken third prize tickets with $7.20.

It was all very nice and there was none of the vulgar gambling going on. Of course everyone knew there wouldn't be any because the track was closed last year because some coarse characters were said to have gambled.

Everyone was having a good time. The grandstand tickets had a request on them that patrons help prevent the law being violated and the complimentary coupon said on its back that the owners of the dogs got a prize and that they had given the track management the right of distribution.

The purses for the owners were donated by the track management.

Good Order.

The grandstand tickets were just that. It was necessary to produce one to get into the stands. And the complimentary coupons were absolutely free.

The management is very strict about doping or the taking of a snort, as they say over by the gas house. There are other signs of order. A reward of $50 for anyone who gives evidence that anyone is drinking or selling liquor on the place or within a half-mile of it.

The races were very pretty. The huzle heralded the approach of the dogs. They were led from the paddock by uniformed attendants headed by the patrol judge, looking very snappy in a blue coat, a yachting cap and white flannels.

OLD MAN RABBIT.

As soon as the dogs paraded in from the grandstands they were placed in their starting stalls, the lights dimmed and here came Old Man Rabbit.

Old Man Rabbit didn't say a word, but he must know something, he just kept bobbing along. I suspect he knew he wasn't going to be caught but the dogs kept hoping. As the rabbit sped by the starting them run.

John Salo Gains On Pete Gavuzzi

Joplin, Mo., May 1.—(A.P.)—Terrible winds and a cold downpour of rain failed to stop Johnny Salo, the rising star of Bascom, N. J., from winning today the thirty-second lap of C. C. Pyle's pavement pounding race.

He ran the 47 miles from Miller, Mo., to Joplin, Mo., in 5:51:10 hours, to gain slightly on Pete Gavuzzi, of England, leader in elapsed time. Gavuzzi finished sixth today's event.

Most of the plodding bunnies were slowed up by the weather conditions. Angry clouds released torrents of rain and the wind in the open country approached tornado proportions.

stalls two attendants yanked down on a lever, a flag signalling them, and the doors were opened simultaneously. On they came, a swirl of brindle, brown and white, all going into a massed group of color in which rich silken reds, greens and yellows roiled, and then straightening out into a thrilling race as one would want to see.

They were all there in the crowd—papa and mama out for the evening. And they brought the children along. —Isn't it fun—Wouldn't Mrs. Smith just die if she could see us—I wish I could dance to that music—Why, darling, you know you can't. Don't you see that sign and there is a policeman—Right on his nose and I just guessed it—What tips have you got on this one—Oh, goody, I told you that pretty dog would win. That old dog that told me didn't know what I was talking about—Carolina Moon!

That ain't the same piano player that was here last year—I hear they fired him—Here's the next race—Did you get one of them red—My, just look at that dog—No, the one in yellow—and so on. The crowd cheered and last year's silks rubbed elbows with the latest models. Cheeks were flushed, eyes shone and there were smiles. Even those who wore their complimentary tickets and panned the dogs didn't sound so malicious.

Atlanta likes her dog races. She showed that Wednesday night when 6,000 people braved the rain to see them run.

HORSE OWNERS GIVEN ORDERS

"Race or Get Out," Aurora Track Officials Tell Turfmen.

Aurora, Ill., May 1.—(A.P.)—Striking horse owners, who have caused at least a two-day postponement of the annual spring turf meeting at the Aurora track, today were ordered to race or get out of the track. The ultimatum was issued by Clifford R. Trimble, general manager of the track, who warned that no further concessions would be granted the strikers and that thoroughbreds from other points would be invited to compete, beginning Friday.

Meanwhile, the strikers stuck to their demands that the track boost the minimum purses from $800 to $1,000 and that the track deduct 1 per cent from all first monies from all events and turn that sum over to their organization, the Thoroughbred Horse Association. Some wavering was noticed in the strikers' ranks today, but generally they clung to their demands.

"I am certain the track will open with a fine card by Friday at least," Trimble said. "We have quite a few entries now from several horsemen who do not agree with the association's stand and there are many stable owners at Louisville, Lexington and other points who will come over. The strikers have until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow to file their demands for Friday. If they do not, they will have to get their horses out of our stalls."

Trimble said he had been advised 200 horses, now laying up at Omaha, as soon as stable room was guaranteed.

Howard recently announced his intention to turn professional and applied for a license to box in New York.

Charges against Howard, involving his amateur status, have been pending for some time, Ferris said, but no formal action was taken until the local A. A. U. registration committee, in Philadelphia, today cancelled Howard's amateur status.

Sonnenberg Turned Wrestler on Dare

Tackling Gus Left Bond Selling Flat After Being Dared On Mat.

By Ralph McGill.
Mr. Gus Sonnenberg, the big butter and leg man, who has butted and legged his way into the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, had greatness thrust upon him.

Following his departure from the halls of learning at Dartmouth and Detroit, Gus Sonnenberg was selling bonds in Boston, that cultural center. He was going along with the usual amount of success afforded by a young bond salesman with big muscles.

Then came one of those sudden jerks of the strings by the master of the puppets. Gus Sonnenberg told of his strange advent into the wrestling racket one night after he had butted and tackled Howard Cantonwine into a very horizontal position with Mr. Cantonwine's dorsal fins stuck in the canvas.

Along with some friends, Gus Sonnenberg attended a wrestling match at Boston. The match was a very sour one, put on by two members of the decadent and declining profession.

Going out Mr. Gus Sonnenberg was speaking in a slightly vitriolic manner, his tractability having been stirred by the poor performance.

"I could beat that so and so, myself," said Gus Sonnenberg.

One of the sound-so's managers was hurrying out front to speed up the gate money and he heard the irate young bond salesman speaking.

Gus Sonnenberg said he would. A crowd collected with the young bond salesman as the center of attraction and some coarse laughter to be heard on the outside of the circle. They were enjoying the expected discomfiture of the young man with the big muscles who had been talking loud.

Gus Sonnenberg was admittedly slightly nonplussed. But he stuck to his guns.

"All right," he said, "two weeks from now."

And the match was on.

"I was scared to death," said Sonnenberg. "I had wrestled at college but I had never been up against one of those professional birds. I went right away and got me a coach and I went to it. I didn't try to learn much. I told him to teach me a good arm lock and a good wrist lock. I had my own ideas. I knew they'd either get me or the way as the coach got me. I couldn't learn all the tricks in two weeks. We practiced that arm lock and the wrist lock for two weeks and I got into the match."

"The night of the match came around. I didn't wait. I just hauled off and tackled him and turned loose. I got out of the way as fast as I could and every time I got a chance I turned loose and tackled him, butting him in the stomach as hard as I could. I told him to teach me a few holds after I got him tired and then I threw on that arm lock a few times. It wasn't long until I jarred him with one of those tackles so hard that he was dazed. It was easy to pin him then. That's how I started."

It was the sound money of that match that caused him to leave the bond business flat. He became a sensation overnight and was champion within a few months after he won his first match.

GOOD WRESTLER.
Sonnenberg, while his flying tackle is a terrific thing, is not dependent on that alone. His arm lock is one of the most vicious things the wrestling business has seen. Sonnenberg does not get into the mat. He actually whips them over his shoulder with an arm lock. In most of his matches his opponents cannot refrain from letting loose yells of pain as the lock is over in the grasp of that arm lock. Howard Cantonwine moaned loud enough to be heard in the dollar seats in his last match with the champion.

Sonnenberg's tackle catches opponents about half way between the knees and the hips. He leaves feet as he tackles and straightens his body out in the air, the impact on the mat being a stunning one. He turns loose quickly and maneuvers himself into position to launch himself at his victim the minute he gets to his feet.

Sonnenberg's tactics really revived wrestling. The sport had become somewhat passe and the public was staying away in very large numbers. Mr. Robert Frederick, called Ed (Strangler) Lewis, was still drawing them but Joe Stecher was all through as an attraction. Stanley Stasiuk, Joe Maciewicz, Hans Steinko, Joe (Toots) Mondt and others of the big-time pachyderm herd were not pulling them in.

SAVED WRESTLING.
Sonnenberg's victory over wrestling, and revived interest. The college wrestlers gave it some new color. Jim McMillen, Howard Cantonwine and others of the new school began to win matches.

They all butt and tackle. McMillen is probably the best of the new school, excepting the champion, so far as that phase of it is concerned. They lack, however, some knowledge of wrestling. Lewis and Stecher will win as long as Lewis is the smarter of the two but he has aged considerably and is not as strong as the present champion.

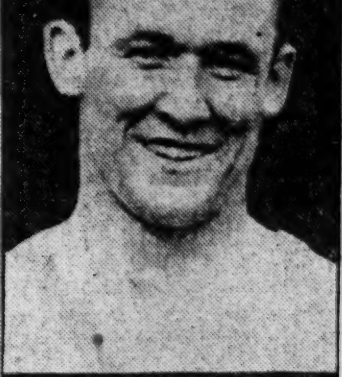

The matter of the gentleman from Kentucky is very keen, however, and it will take considerable more to beat him the next time he faces the tackling of Gus Sonnenberg.

The Stranger is using a stiff arm and his hands in his practice matches. He will be tough.

But so will the big butter and leg man.

Mediocre Tilts For Preps Today

Four games are on the prep schedule this afternoon, and all of them will probably prove mediocre unless there is an upset of the dope. Should any of the lesser teams succeed in beating one of the four leaders, Tech High, Boys' High, Fulton and U. S. B., it will affect the losing club's standing materially. If all of the four favored nines come through as expected, the standing will remain as it is, but if any of the minor teams win it will elevate them to the ranks of the upper half and lower the lower.

The card for today:

Boys' High at Decatur.
U. S. B. at East Point.
G. M. A. at Fulton High.
Marist at Tech High.

Boys' High's second team will have little trouble beating Decatur unless the unexpected occurs. The U. S. B. East Point affair at East Point will probably be the best game of the afternoon. If the East Pointers are right they have an excellent chance of trimming the Bluebirds.

The Cadets of G. M. A. go to Brisbane park to battle the cohorts of Coach Hope. Fulton High mentor, while Marist Cadets invade Grady field to engage the Tech High Smithies. Both of the Cadet teams are the underdogs.

CULLOP CASE UP TO ROBBIE

Cullop, and that, in itself, is a man-sized job. It is not known what sort of jury Tommy Leach is using. Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson is not susceptible to ordinary methods used by those seeking favors. He does not care for firewater in quantities and he has already seen most everything.

Tommy Leach edged into the office Wednesday afternoon and managed to present his case. He wants Nick Cullop and he does not want the Robins to continue to wear his perpetual smile. Saturday night the United States players banqueted Dr. Leeds with the British team. Every day the proper thing, although that took four hours, during which one wisecrack was gotten off by an Englishman, who said the Atlantic ocean was now nothing but "casual water." The same gentleman said that "the tea party of the day went to the British."

Bob Harlow, our manager, made a good speech when he introduced Grace Fields, star of the British music halls, and sat down.

Crowds see this paper's expert wash clothes white as snow —without scrubbing or boiling

JESSIE M. DeBOTH, this newspaper's famous home-making expert, has been demonstrating to vast crowds of women the new, economical way to do a family wash at home.

Miss DeBoth has devoted her whole life to teaching women easier and better home-making methods. This is your chance to see how she gets a gleaming, sparkling, snow-white wash without scrub- bing the life out of clothes!

In these demonstrations, the DeBoth staff uses the famous granulated laundry soap—Rinso. It is wonderful to see, right on the platform, how grimy clothes are just soaked in the rich, creamy Rinso suds . . . rinsed in clear water . . . and held up before the audience spotless! What a saving on the clothes. No wonder Miss DeBoth recommends this method!

Another Demonstration Today

THE DeBoth experts will repeat their clothes washing demonstrations during this series of Home-Making Classes. Classes will be held at the time and place shown at the right. Don't miss this treat! Come early—because the doors will be closed when the hall is filled.

After you see the remarkable demonstration, you will want to have Rinso in time for next washday. Get the big household package from your grocer. It's all that's needed—no bar soaps, chips or powders. So economical! Granulated, compact—one cupful gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soaps. For economy and best results, see that the easy directions on the package are followed.

For washing machines, too
32,000 demonstrators of washing machines use Rinso alone to show their washers at their best. And the makers of 34 leading washers say, "Use Rinso for whiter washes and for safety."

CHARLEY FLYNN, SPORTSMAN, DIES AT HOTEL HOME

New York, May 1.—(AP)—Charles Francis Flynn, widely known sportsman and hotel magnate, died today at his home in the Hotel Lombard after a brief illness. He was 51 years old.

Mr. Flynn was born in Boston. As a young man he went to Florida and was a factor in the development of Florida and Cuba as winter resorts. In Havana he built the Oriental Park race course, with which he later was closely identified as vice president and resident manager of the Havana American Jockey Club. In 1919 he became associated with the Bowman-Billmore Hotels Corporation, of which he was vice president and a director.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Alda W. Flynn, a daughter, Corliss, and a son, Grant Flynn.

JERRY AND I DIDN'T DO ANY SPY WORK TODAY, BECAUSE THE GROUND IS TOO MUDDY. IT RAINED ALL DAY YESTERDAY AND LAST NIGHT TOO. THERE WERE FOOTPRINTS AROUND OUR CLUBHOUSE.

THOSE FOOTPRINTS LED US RIGHT TO THE SKINNY GUY'S HOUSEBOAT. IT LOOKED LIKE THE SKINNY GUY HAD SOMETHING TO DO WITH THIS. LINK CAME OUT, "HELLO BOYS," HE SAID.

LINK SLAMMED THE DOOR SHUT RIGHT IN OUR FACE. "WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT?" YELLED OUR CAPTAIN. BUT I SAID, "WE BETTER LET LINK ALONE"—AND I'M GLAD WE DID.

GEE WHIZ! THE WHOLE PELHAM GANG WAS STANDING IN FRONT OF OUR CLUBHOUSE WHEN WE GOT BACK THERE. THEY SAW US COMING. THE RED HEAD STOOD BY BRIGGEN AND DAVE BURNS.

THEY DIDN'T SAY A WORD. THE RED HEAD LOOKED AT EACH ONE OF US, THEN HE SHOOK HIS HEAD AT BRIGGEN AND THEY ALL WENT TO THEIR BOATS AND ROWED ACROSS TO THEIR SIDE.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

Hollywood, Calif., May 1.—Train time in Hollywood is as exciting as the entry of the steel monster into any village.

I sometimes think if those patient souls who line the boulevard in the vicinity of the popular lunching places would hie them down to the station they would reap a harvest.

Beauties all flutter with excitement and elaborate with gardenias, waving pretty farewells. Gentles with one eye on the clock and with their hearts in the highlands of Beverly Hills with some lady fair and a 1 o'clock dinner engagement, make gracious farewell speeches to executives. The said executives may come in handy one of these days—if they haven't already done their stunt.

Marion Davies in a beige coat and little tight felt hat runs beside the train waving good-byes. Gus Edwards waving and running with her. The beige coat is relieved with a tremendous shawl collar of dark brown lamb. The shoes are of beige suede—very low cut ties. The orchids are green.

Jack Warner loudly announcing as he passes that color films are the saving of the motion picture industry. So far as the producer is concerned. And so far as the audience is concerned? We who have seen so many fevered ladies and hectic gentles via color, love the cool patrician quality of those who move in one black-and-white.

Jack Warner goes in for innovations. He sat the accumulated press and fan magazine writers of the colony in the second balcony at a recent premiere. Which is courting caustic print.

Pauline Lord mounting the train steps leisurely. Just having concluded a long session on the road in Eugene O'Neill's venture in five-hour play literature.

Hollywood conversations bore Pauline Lord. She doesn't care who's voice registers what. When you've been reading soliloquies of the Provincetown genius a year or more, Hollywood monologues are tame.

William Randolph Hearst beaming from a train window. And Joseph Schenck basking himself to Manhattan, where mergers are to be fought out with the subway clatter for an obligato.

Come to think of it, just what treat would tourists get out of a producer? It's the mere actor who feeds them something to talk about.

Gloria Swanson was scheduled to go east and talker merger also. Three-quarters of a million has gone the way of all celluloid on her latest story venture.

It was begun in the days when the brave and bold thought talkies wouldn't last for more than three months. No wonder! They had heard some of the early efforts which should have been confined to the laboratory instead of being experimented upon while the public paid their entrance fees to hear.

Every doctor in Hollywood worked on the Swanson opus. But the boys who administer literary adrenalin for large sums of money just couldn't get the old still gelatine heart to beat.

And the little Swanson lady is nervous because it's been a long time between public appearances, and the dear people are so forgetful! (Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

Cooking School Hostess

MRS. JOHN R. HORNADY, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, who will head the committee of official hostesses at this afternoon's session of The Constitution's Cooking and Home-Making School at the Erlanger theater from 2 to 4 o'clock.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

SEEKING THINGS.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

A careless look, a wandering glance, And lo! a secret found by chance.
—Beauty the Wood Duck.

Peter Rabbit sat under a little hemlock tree back a short distance from the shore of the pond of Paddy the Beaver. He had given up looking for the nest of Beauty the Wood Duck. As he sat there under the little hemlock tree there was nothing in particular on his mind. He had a full stomach and he was just sitting there having daydreams. Now out just behind him was a dead tree. It was a tree that long before had been killed by lightning. It was quite tall and, of course, it was bare. Even the bark had peeled from it. Half way up this tree, on the side facing Peter, was a hole.

"I can remember when Bobby Coon used to live in that tree," said Peter to himself. "I wonder if anybody has lived in it since. I guess not. I have never seen anyone around it. My goodness! What was that?" Peter abruptly sat up very straight with his ears pointing straight up like two exclamation marks and his eyes very round and wide. With all his might he stared at that hole halfway up that dead tree. "I saw something move in there," said he under his breath. "I know I did. It must be someone is living there right now. Probably it is one of the owl family. Still, it may be one of Bobby Coon's children. Or perhaps it is one of the possum family. I shall sit right here until I find out."

So Peter once more made himself comfortable, and kept his eyes fixed on that hole in the dead tree. Two or three times he thought he saw something moving back in the hollow, but it was so dark in there that he couldn't be quite sure. Peter was patient. Peter can be very, very patient when he wants to be. At last his patience was rewarded. A head was suddenly thrust out of that hole and just as quickly drawn back.

Peter gasped. Yes, sir, he gasped. Then he rubbed his eyes. "Did I, or didn't I?" he muttered. "I certainly did, but I couldn't have. It must have been my imagination. Such a thing couldn't happen. There it is again. I certainly am seeing things. It was true that the thing had happened again. A head had been poked out of that hole in the tree and just as quickly withdrawn. Peter was certain that that head was the head of a duck, but whoever heard of ducks in holes in trees high up from the ground? Certainly, he had never heard of such a thing and that was

The mellow flavor of "Canada Dry" brings keen delight and vigor

Sometimes you find the day a little milder, the sun a little warmer, the air a little softer on your cheek. Such is the mellowiness of "Canada Dry."

Delicious and refreshing as some rare old wine, giving off a subtle yet delightful bouquet, a taste which wins the connoisseur's nod of approval, that is the thrill of drinking this wonderful ginger ale.

Made from pure Jamaica ginger and other high-quality ingredients, blended and balanced with care, carbonated according to a secret method, "Canada Dry," like the aristocrat it is, is the champagne of ginger ales. It is drunk the wide-world over; Paris, London, New York. Countless homes and great hotels in this country and Canada serve it.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS. Joy Harrison, living in London and working for some doctors in Harley street, is filled with happiness at the prospect of the return from Tahiti of her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist. As she is about to leave for the office one glorious May morning a letter from Geoffrey reaches her and with it the bottom falls out of the universe. The unstable situation to be released from the engagement. Some how Joy manages to reach the office. Pre-occupied with her trouble she fails to realize that something has happened to Dr. Rex Travers, her employer.

INSTALLMENT IV.
JOY BURNS HER BOATS.
Supposing, thought Joy, one said, "No, no! it mustn't, it can't be off! As there isn't any other woman, marry me and see how hard I'll try to make you happy! I won't ask for more. I'll run your home and your comforts, you know I'm good at that! I won't interfere, ever! I'll just stand back and admire my wonderful husband. I'll be the perfect squaw, it's what every man wants, you said so in your book! I'm still as pretty as when you said all those other lovely things." Suppose one made one's desperate frank appeal... "Geoffrey! Come back to your poor little heartbroken girl, I am sobbing for you, I want you, I can't be left, I shall die without you!" Impossible, however, one couldn't. Even if one did, what good would it be? Dust-and-ashes failure for a girl; constant irritation to the man. Another thing, she wrote from his mother's... Mrs. Ford would want to be told what the girl, Joy, had replied. Very well... This was the letter Mrs. Ford should read...

Quickly Joy wrote it, swung back to the violent reaction of hurt and throbbing pride.
"Dear Geoffrey:
Of course! Please, don't worry. As a matter of fact I was not surprised, nor, to be frank—"
(Curious, she thought, how people always put "to be frank" before their largest size fibe!)
"I was I too terribly upset! Dear old thing, you are not the only person in the world who can alter, in the sort of way, I mean, for I hope we shall always remain quite good pals."
"Yours, Joy!"
Quickly, before she thought better of it, she took off her brilliant encircled sapphire ring... Don't think to wait about the day Geoffrey and she chose it! There was a postoffice on the way back to Harley street. Register it there. Get back quickly, girl. It's the only way. You couldn't keep him. You can't "try" to make men happy. Least of all a man of that flashing erratic temperament; a human dragon-fly! If she had doubted the wisdom of marrying him when he was ardently, rapidly keen—what about now, now? How could she dream of domesticating a reluctant dragon-fly?
Burn your boats, Joy. Push that little registered envelope over the counter, through the bars. Gone. Finish! she thought, and set her teeth. Now hurry back to work. You've still, thank God, got that!

"Miss Harrison!" This was the end of the long, numb afternoon. Doctor Travers speaking. "I am afraid I have something rather unpleasant to break to you. Er—the fact is I shall not be able to keep you here after this week."
Joy Harrison looked up from the typewriter which she had been about to cover up again.
"Not be able to keep you here after this week?"... was that what the big doctor had said, standing there on the other side of her table?
What was it all about?

She forced herself to listen, to take in the brusque phrases that explained this fresh catastrophe.
It had nothing to do, of course, with her work. The doctor had been let down by his financial adviser who had employed for his own use the money entrusted to him by Dr. Travers and other clients.
"I shall have to clear out here," the deep man's voice was saying, as from a distance. "You see, the lease of this house costs 5,000 pounds; there's no secret about it. I paid 2,000 down and the bank lent me the rest. Well, the money has now gone on which I was depending to pay the bank." He stared straight at her; seeing, not the girl, but the situation. He spoke half to himself. "I have to let the staff go, and get rid of this lease, that's the first thing."

Pause.
They looked towards each other across the little room, these two in bitter trouble. They were scarcely conscious of each other.
Geoffrey! thought the girl. Burnt my boats, now, with a vengeance... Nothing left... Once I thought an engaged girl was in such luck who could keep love and the job until she married... One needed trousseau money. Needed steady of routine... Work,

Rough Diary on Airplane Rudder Tells of Attempts To Escape by Lost Fliers

Searchers for Southern Cross, Forced Down,
Die of Thirst in Australia
Wilds.

Sydney, Australia, May 1.—(P)—A rough diary, scribbled on the rudder of their plane, revealed today the tragedy of Robert Hitchcock and Keith Anderson, aviators, who lost their lives in an attempt to find the airplane Southern Cross. The story came from a land party under Lieutenant Eaton, who came upon the airplane Kookaburra with the body of Hitchcock under one wing and that of Anderson about 40 yards away. The Eaton party made a forced march from Wave Hill into the heart of a waterless desert in the northern territory. The brief communications from the party did not give the exact text of the records on the rudder, but did reveal the manner in which the two aviators met death. A forced landing, due to a faulty cylinder and push rod, drove the Kookaburra to earth, seven hours after leaving Alice Springs on April 10. The men tried to construct a runway to permit them to take off again, but did not succeed. They searched vainly for water and finally were reduced to drinking alcohol from their compass. They had dug a hole near the machine in an attempt to reach water, but this hole was dry. Food was not lacking for the plane contained two tins of biscuit. When the Eaton party found it, there were 20 gallons of gasoline still left in the fuel tanks. Attempted to take off, said the diary. "Clearing runway, but owing to increasing debility and thirst we are unable to make further attempt." The last entry was dated April 12 and it showed the exhausted condition of the men. Apparently Anderson left in search of other aid after his companion died but he seemingly walked in circles until he, too, collapsed. Lieutenant Eaton said the nearest water to the place where the plane landed was five miles distant. Because of atmospheric conditions and the fact that his horses had been without water for 50 hours, he was unable to bring out the bodies. His party, therefore, buried them near the plane and hastened back to civilization.

REPARATIONS BODY IS MAKING UP REPORT

Paris, May 1.—(P)—The barometer of the second Dawes committee continued low today, while delegates were busy drafting the text of their report, which probably will be an official announcement of their failure to solve the German reparations problem.

Unless the unexpected happens after the return from Berlin of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, failure will have been the result of more than 11 weeks of effort by the committee.

Members of the German delegation now are working separately from the drafting committee in preparation of a minority report which they will have ready to present to the full committee if it is found expedient.

In that case, Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee, and J. P. Morgan, of the American delegation, probably either will draw up a short report of their own or have inserted a brief declaration in the report as prepared by the drafting committee.

The drafting committee today went over that part of the report dealing with the German budget. Comment on this subject, which is made with approval of the German delegation, dwells on the necessity for economy and for a rigorously balanced budget.

Another important chapter that received attention today was that dealing with the method by which the system of reparations payments would be switched from the present Dawes plan organization to new machinery in case it were finally set up.

The old Revelstoke sub-committee, under the presidency of Sir Charles Addis, of the British delegation in place of the deceased expert, will meet tomorrow to consider what measures for the security of payments may be incorporated in a new plan, to take the place of those provided by the Dawes plan which a new system will abrogate.

The experts in general are looking forward with great interest to Dr. Schacht's return from Berlin on the supposition that if there is any possibility of saving the conference from failure it will be through some new proposal he may bring with him.

FIRE IS FOUND IN THE HOLD OF LINER MEGANTIC

London, May 1.—(P)—Lloyd's reported tonight that fire had broken out in No. 2 hold of the White Star liner Megantic at King George's Fifth docks in the Thames river. Thirty rolls of paper and a large quantity of loose straw were the only contents of the hold and it was not considered likely that the fire would extend further.

GEORGIA INCOME TAX PAYMENTS SHOW INCREASE

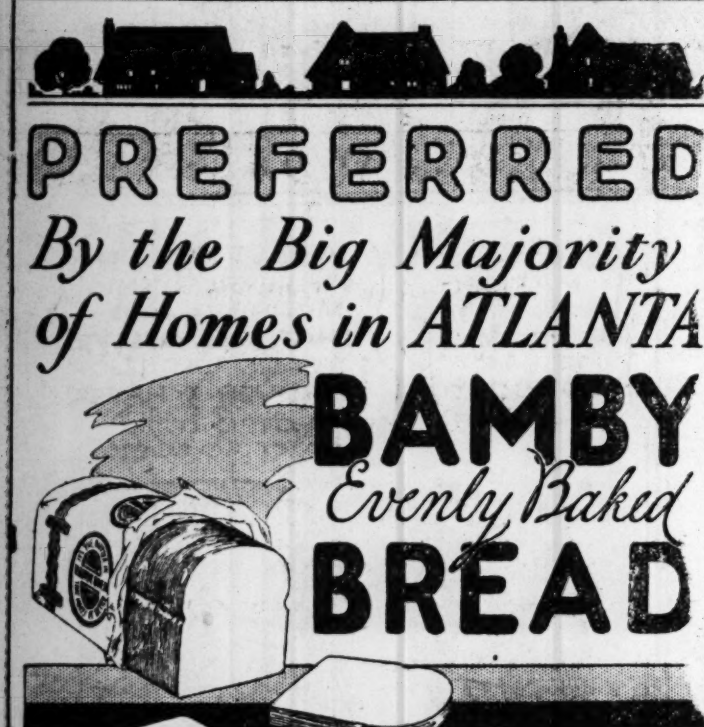

Federal income taxes paid by Georgia corporations and individuals for the first nine months of the current fiscal year were approximately $330,000 in excess of the taxes paid during the same period of the previous fiscal year, according to figures released Wednesday afternoon by J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue. Commenting on the substantial gain, Mr. Rose declared that the figures indicated a decided increase in the amount of business transacted and a general period of prosperity for the state. "The amount of income tax paid the government represents a certain percentage of the profits of both concerns and individuals," he pointed out, "and an increase in such taxes necessarily means that the people of Georgia are more prosperous than during the same period of last year." Georgia corporations paid in during the nine months' period ending March 1 a total of $6,999,748.51, a gain of more than $65,000. Mr. Rose's figures showed, while individuals paid $3,415,623.36, a gain of approximately $265,000.

At left, Mrs. Eugene Harrington, president of the Young Matrons' Circle of the Tallulah Falls school and chief of the official hostesses at Wednesday's session of The Constitution's great cooking school at the Erlanger theater, confers with Miss Jessie M. DeBoth, director of the home exposition, on latest methods of food preparation. Mrs. Harrington was generous in her praise of the cooking and home-making school, declaring it a splendid movement and congratulating The Constitution on sponsoring it. At right, Mrs. J. S. Rankin, of Stone Mountain, inspects the prize she won at Tuesday's session of the school—a Westinghouse electric range. Mrs. Rankin is manager of St. Luke's Episcopal church tea room and expressed delight at winning the magnificent electric range for her own kitchen. She says that heretofore she has been using oil and coal in cooking for a family of six, but will switch to electricity as soon as the school is concluded and her prize range is delivered.

COUNSEL WOULD QUASH
WALKER INDICTMENT

Macon, Ga., May 1.—(P)—Hearing of a motion to quash the indictment against John W. Walker, former prominent banker of Sparta, Ga., will be argued in federal court here Monday when the case is called for trial.

Walker is under indictment charging embezzlement more than a decade ago of $9,500 in municipal bonds of the city of Sparta entrusted to his keeping.

Walker was arrested several months ago in New York by federal agents who followed his trail leading into the Orient and back to this country for nine years following his disappearance from Sparta.

A special motion to quash the indictment already has been filed by his attorneys before Judge Alexander Akerman, of the United States district court in Florida, who will preside at the hearing.

Wallace Miller, chief of defense counsel, today said the motion to quash was based on the statute of limitations under which indictment "of any person not a fugitive from justice is barred in practically all cases, except capital felonies, three years after the alleged commission. This provision includes the charge of embezzlement from a national bank under which Walker was indicted many years after the alleged commission of the crime."

Replying, W. A. Boothe, United States district attorney, said he was prepared to contest the motion to quash, and the witnesses from foreign countries and other states to prove that Walker was living under an assumed name in Texas, California, Hawaii and British Columbia. The government will contend that Walker was a fugitive from justice.

A score or more of witnesses from Sparta, in addition to many from other south Georgia towns, Macon and Atlanta, have been subpoenaed to testify in the trial.

Sims and Berman represent Sanders.

MORE EFFICIENCY REDUCES CLAIMS AGAINST RAILWAYS

Efficiency in the operation of railroads throughout the southeastern states has greatly reduced the amount paid out in claims by carriers, Joseph Marshall, of the freight claim division of the American Railway Association, reported here Wednesday. Mr. Mar-

"The railroads $2,000,000 less in claims last year than in 1927 and the companies operating in the southeastern states are responsible for about half of that saving," Mr. Marshall said. "The executives in charge of the operation of railroads in this territory have made a record which they and the people they serve should be proud of."

at the Rialto theater. The dance is somewhat different from the other jazz numbers that have made their appearance, become popular and then died out. It is intriguing and creeps upon a person unawares.

Loew's Grand.
Today marks the opening at Loew's Grand of the new M-G-M film, "The Sign of the Cross."

Duction, "Desert Nights," with John Gilbert, Mary Nolan and Ernest Torrence in the principal roles. It is the story of a man who steals jewels from thieves in an attempted robbery in the South African diamond fields, with the crooks and their intended victim wandering finally in the desert.

Cameo.

"Two Lovers," the Cameo attraction for today, is good entertainment. An interesting romance interspersed with a few scenes of exciting mystery angle, the picture is probably the best of the co-starring films of that successful and popular pair, Ronald Colman and Vilma Baner. The original source of this film was that beloved thriller, "Leatherface."

Alamo No. 2.

An irate wife attempting to shoot her husband's beautiful blonde secretary, a thrilling rescue of that secretary from a treacherous surfer, a love scene and a few suspicious circumstances are explained; all these are pictured in Paramount's clever production, "Lie to Me," starring Esther Ralston, which comes to the Alamo No. 2 regular today.

Empire.

Richard Dix, popular star of a hundred screen hits, returns to his la-est success, "Redskin" at the Empire theater, corner Georgia avenue and

Ponce de Leon.

"The Awakening," coming to the

Vilma Banky. Samuel Goldwyn's
"Hungarian Rhapsody" as a star in her own right. In this story of war and romance in Alsace, Alice Banks, previously famous as the co-starring partner of Ronald Colman, reaches the top of her art.

The conflict of emotions between this lovely peasant and the dashing Hungarian nobleman, having been attracted to her as a young girl, is only to discover that he is deeply in love with her, makes "The Awakening" tremendously moving human document.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, May 1.—(AP)—More than 16,000,000 bushels of grain were delivered on Chicago Board of Trade May contracts today without causing any material disturbance of prices. The total, which was much larger than in general had been looked for, is a record seldom equaled except in war-time. Chicago May deliveries of wheat alone today aggregated 9,240,000 bushels as against 1,500,000 bushels in the same month of 1928.

Closing quotations on wheat here were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-4 off, with the downward, owing chiefly to unofficial crop estimates tomorrow expected to prove bearish. Corn closed 1/2 to 3-4 up, oats at 1-4 decline to 2c advance, and provisions varying from 15c setback to a rise of 40c.

Fluctuations in Chicago wheat values today were at no time beyond a range of 1/8c. The market keeping within narrow limits, the previous, despite the immense deliveries taking place here. Most of the day, prices averaged higher than the previous close, traders taking into account the prevailing general belief that the wheat delivered here had passed into strong hands where the volume would be unlikely to act as a burden on the market.

Monthly private crop reports to be given out tomorrow are expected to show that the probable yield of domestic winter wheat is well above the 1928 final estimate, 570,000,000 bushels. Meanwhile, the general run of crop advances today was favorable.

Individually, the previous close, traders taking into account the prevailing general belief that the wheat delivered here had passed into strong hands where the volume would be unlikely to act as a burden on the market.

Corn developed a fairly strong tone in the face of big deliveries today of 5,588,000 bushels. May contracts here were 1/2 to 3-4 up, oats at 1-4 decline to 2c advance, and provisions varying from 15c setback to a rise of 40c.

Provisions were active and averaged higher. Holders of May lard became sellers, while in Chicago today, whereas warehouse interests did the reverse.

METHODS OF COAL MINING VARY ACCORDING TO THE LOCATION OF THE COAL SEAMS. MOST OF THE EARLY COAL MINES IN THE UNITED STATES WERE MERELY TUNNELS DUG INTO THE SIDE OF A HILL THAT CONTAINED COAL.

IN SOME STATES THE SOFT COAL SEAMS LIE NEAR THE SURFACE AND CAN BE MINED WITH STEAM SHOVELS. SUCH MINING IS TERMED "STRIP MINING."

The Story of American Industry.
Three Types of Mines.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

WHEN THE COAL LIES FAR BELOW THE SURFACE, A DEEP SHAFT IS DUG. FROM THIS SHAFT PASSAGES BRANCH OUT IN ALL DIRECTIONS AND AT VARYING LEVELS, FOLLOWING THE COAL SEAMS. THIS METHOD IS THE MOST WIDELY USED AND IS KNOWN AS "SHAFT" MINING.

THE WORK AT A COAL MINE COMES UNDER TWO DIVISIONS—THAT BENEATH THE GROUND AND THAT ON THE SURFACE. HUNDREDS OF FEET DOWN THE COAL IS DUG BY THE MINERS AND RAISED BY ELEVATORS TO THE TOP OF THE SHAFT, WHERE ANOTHER FORCE PREPARES IT FOR THE MARKET AND LOADS IT ON THE RAILWAY.
